CITY BUDGET
TENTATIVELY
IS $577,829

1935-36, the tax rate can be reduced to correspond with the $20,000 figure. In 1935-36, assessed valuation was $23,834,290.

The tentative budget shows items covering "fixed charges," "capital outlay" and "equipment maintenance" are approximately the same as last year.

A budget summary showing comparison with last year reveals:

Salaries total of $277,826; fixed charges total of $248,800; capital outlay, $25,560; relief projects, $15,000; repairs, $40,000; supplies, $28,200; total general government, $486,386; maintenance of equipment, $18,000; library, $31,700; sewer maintenance and repairs, $12,000; special funds, $12,000; for grand total of $577,829.

Expenditures Compared

Based on last year's assessed valuation, comparison of percentage expenditures for 1935-36 and 1934-35 are as follows: With 1935-36 represented first: Salaries, 44.7 and 47.9 per cent; fixed charges, 29.2 and 26.8; capital outlay, .674 and .07; repairs, .008 and .007; supplies, .073 and .068; general government, .011 and .009; library, .048 and .055; equipment maintenance, .036 and .034; special funds, .013 and .02.

Comparison of total expenditures since 1926-27 shows: 1926-27, $656,097; 1927-28, $697,577; 1928-29, $687,705; 1929-30, $708,624; 1930-31, $795,069; 1931-32, $862,976; 1932-33, $893,280; 1933-34, $930,760; 1934-35, $923,760; 1935-36, $906,714; and 1936-37 (proposed), $577,829.

Revenue received from 1927-28 by income other than taxes and by taxes, for Santa Ana, is totaled as follows: 1927-28, $327,474; from income other than taxes and by taxes, $344,258 from taxes; 1928-29, $319,067 and $367,376; 1929-30, $285,779 and $392,030; 1930-31, $315,657 and $398,454; 1931-32, $362,029 and $364,559; 1932-33, $325,625 and $328,179; 1933-34, $322,045 and $302,632; 1934-35, $272,666 and $279,060; 1935-36, $272,275 and $260,670; and 1936-37 (estimated), $257,250 and $240,750.

"The income outside of taxes represents about 43 per cent and the taxes levied represents about 57 per cent, for the coming year, based upon 1935-36 tax rate and valuation," the auditor stated. "Estimate of income other than taxes was made by a careful analysis of sources from which such revenue is derived."

determined precisely until August, the councilmen were informed by the auditor.

"Condition of our treasury is now such that no additional surplus is necessary to carry on our functions during what we term the dry period, from July to December," he said.

"We can, therefore, pass on to the taxpayers, the amount of the unappropriated surplus which is the difference between the estimated expenditures and the estimated income for a period of one year."

"Major items of importance facing the city now include handling of the outfall sewer repair job, which we are now seeking WPA assistance in, and the Metropolitan Water District costs for the coming year, the rate for which will be about 48 cents in 1936-37."

All sources of revenue outside of taxation were greater than we had anticipated during the past year and collection of general taxes shows delinquency between 5 and 6 per cent, 3 per cent better than the past year; delinquent collections are on the increase and it is through these amounts we will be able to reduce 1936-37 operating tax levy."

GOV. MERRIAM
'ON SPOT' IN

"I beg permission to make a few suggestions concerning questions this inquiry should answer to serve any useful purpose."

"First, in regard to Governor Merriam: It has been brought out in this inquiry that the Governor appointed certain people to certain positions of power on the board of equalization and as a direct result of these appointments, certain vicious elements were enabled to control the board, to remove honest civil service employees and replace them with men of their own choice, more amenable to the demands of the underworld."

Two Conclusions

"Therefore, we are driven to one of two conclusions:

"Either the Governor did not know what he was doing when he made these appointments, in which case he acted incompetently and should be called to account by the legislature, or

"The Governor did know what he was doing, in which case he acted as party to a corrupt scheme and should be held to account by the legislature."

"Second, in regard to civil service employees: Certain appointees of Governor Merriam on the state personnel board working in sympathetic collusion with vicious forces controlling the state board of equalization, also appointed by the governor, placed a premium on acquiescence to the miserable mess brought to light in this inquiry."

"Honesty, sincerity and ability did not count. The civil service employees were pawns in a game of patronage and graft played by the governor and his henchmen."

At Governor's Door

"This entire situation is entirely at the governor's door."

Brown concluded his testimony by warning the committee against making Orfa Jean Shontz, former member of the board of equalization, "the scapegoat for the corrupt situation now existing."

"I believe any blame placed at her door will merely have the effect of injuring the candidacy of any other honest man or woman who might aspire to public office in California and, most important, will distract attention from the parties who are truly responsible for the existing situation," he said.

The former local liquor control chief testified he was dismissed four days after Mrs. Helen (Queen Helen) Werner warned him "You're through" if he refused to obey her commands. He said she sought control over 50 Southern California liquor licenses and demanded he dismiss 40 employees "because the governor must have some patronage in the liquor control office."

Local Briefs

Sons of Veterans will enjoy a pot luck dinner tomorrow night at Modern Woodman's hall, according to an announcement made today by Commander E. A. Bell. The dinner will be served at 7 p. m. Daughters of Veterans will be in charge of arranging the dinner, and the program will be under the direction of the veterans' sons.

Wind velocity yesterday averaged 2.1 m. p. h., according to records at the Santa Ana Junior college meteorological station. Temperatures ranged from 58 at 6 a. m. to 80 at 2 p. m. Relative humidity was 70 per cent at 6 p. m.

A father and son pot luck supper, sponsored by the service club of the Advent Christian church of Tustin, will be held tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at the church, Roscoe A. Goodell, former instructor in Chinese schools, will be the speaker.

O. L. Halseil and Sam Hart, both of Santa Ana, last night were elected directors of the Home Owned Business association of Orange county at its meeting last night. The election of the two men brings to the directorate its full strength of 20 members.

Temperatures in Orange county were strongly reminiscent of summer time today, with the thermometer at the Knox and Stout hardware store reaching a high of 91 degrees at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Indications were that the heat would increase during the balance of the afternoon hours.

OPPOSITION TO
IS EXPRESSED

The Orange County Planning commission had a tough problem to solve today. It was up to that county body to recommend to the board of supervisors whether or not, for the best interests of the county as a whole, it would be better to have dead or live people inhabiting the exclusive hills in Laguna Beach.

There was considerable difference of opinion on the question among the many individuals who packed the commission rooms in the courthouse annex to testify at the hearing.

Proponents of the plan to establish a "memorial park" on 40 acres of choice land in the Laguna Hills to residents of the art colony for prisoners, it was reported, and only will have a place to bury their dead, advanced many practical and sentimental reasons why the famous beach colony should have a cemetery. Opponents had just as many valid reasons, against the plan, of course.

The hearing this morning was a certain reason for the main protest meeting to be conducted before the board of supervisors. Date for the hearing originally was set for July 7, but the hearing will be postponed, it was learned today, because of errors in advertising legal notices. Supervisor W. C. Jerome sat in on the friendly fracas today.

Curbs Sentiment

Sensing the tension and feeling in the air, Dr. W. L. Bigham, planning commission chairman, hastened to urge speakers to confine their arguments to points regarding the effect of placing a cemetery on the Laguna bluffs, rather than to sentimental or personal reasons.

That this was good generalmanship soon was evident, as various speakers began telling of how they could not stand to live (hardly) unless they could be sure of being put away beneath beloved soil of Laguna Beach. Objectors pointed out that when one is dead, he is dead, and it didn't matter so much where he was laid away for his final rest.

One hundred and 12 property owners who would be in the immediate vicinity of the cemetery should the place be established, signed a petition directed to the planning commission expressing vigorous objection to the proposals to top their town with tombstones. Among these signers was Polly Moran, of movie fame, Mrs. Charles "Chuck" Reiser, wife of the famous picture director, the party spokesman, Frank McElvain, and others of considerable affluence and determination. The petition represented more than a million dollars worth of home property.

Objections Heard

Objectors to the plan called attention to the uncomfortable feeling residents of the beach district would endure each time a solemn and sad funeral procession would wind its dreary way to and from the cemetery. Much better, they said, to be without the funeral strains drifting down to the homes from the burial grounds.

Signers of the petition said the cemetery would be a public nuisance, would endanger public health, injure property values, etc. Proponents claimed the cemetery would beautify the Laguna Hills, be an added attraction for the beach community, would make possible dreams of living people to be buried in their home town rather than being shipped out, etc.

People like Capt. George Portus, president of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce, professed a fond desire for being laid away in the home soil of the beach community, while Mrs. Melinda Woodcock and other beach women and men emphasized the alleged sordidity of the proposed program, advocating sending the dead out of town. Joe Skidmore, prominent realtor, favored the plan, as did Brayton Norton. Ajax Wolfe was a strenuous objector.

It appeared this afternoon following adjournment of the planning commission meeting, that the strenuous objections of the Lagunitas opposed to the cemetery, would find response in the opinion of the commission members. It is expected that the planning commission will uphold the viewpoint that there is no need for a cemetery atop the Laguna Hills, with a trade territory of but around 5000 population and a yearly death rate of but 12 per thousand.

At any rate, the matter cannot be decided until next month, because the meeting was adjourned without action and with the understanding that both sides could continue their arguments, which became torrid this morning, at a commission meeting before the matter is settled by the board of supervisors.

W. B. MARTIN MOVES
INTO NEW OFFICES

W. B. Martin, representative of the Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance company, today announced the establishment of new headquarters at 207 North Main street. Martin's former location was directly next to the present office, which was recently remodeled and enlarged.

Established in the same building with Martin is the Vienna Clinic, a group of nine Long Beach doctors. The group has become affiliated with Dr. J. E. Renfer, in the building formerly occupied by Martin will be established a modern paint store. The manager, Thomas Geoghegan, is a newcomer to Santa Ana, and has established a residence with his family at 806 South Birch street.

JACKSON REFUSES TO COMMENT OVER
RAGAN RESIGNING

Sheriff Logan Jackson today declined to comment on Deputy Sheriff James "Jimmy" Ragan's resignation of Tuesday evening, but admitted the well-known deputy, resident of Orange, had resigned.

The resignation, it was pointed out by The Register yesterday, came when Ragan "blew up" over assignment of duties in the sheriff's office.

Following arrest of Jerry Vance, 18, Chino, near Medford, Ore., Tuesday afternoon in connection with the robbery and shooting of Harold "Bud" Marshall, 26, Laguna Beach taxicab driver, Sheriff Jackson assigned the job of returning Vance to California, to Deputy James Workman.

The usual custom in the sheriff's office is for the deputies to take "turns" in going out-stripe trips for prisoners. It was reported, and it was Ragan's chance to go.

Although the sheriff would not comment, it was said he considered Ragan one of his "right hand" men, and probably would seek his return to the sheriff's office staff. Deputy Workman left last night by train for Oregon to get Vance. He will obtain extradition papers at Salem, Ore., and then return to Medford to take Vance into custody and was arrested by Sheriff Sydney L. Brown, Medford, after local officers received a tip from Vance's home that he was Medford-bound. Vance confessed he shot Marshall when Marshall resisted and Vance's trigger-finger jerked in a fit of nervousness.

At St. Joseph hospital, Marshall was reported improving today. The shot paralyzed his lower limbs.

ki were indicted by a federal grand jury here and is being watched until her story is checked. Agents believed that a woman may have had some part in the asserted espionage ring's activities in fishing gunnery schedules, fleet movement reports and other information from the San Pedro and San Diego bases.

Check Bank Accounts

With Miyazaki unlocated and believed to have returned to Japan, federal agents announced they are subpoenaing records of the Yokohama Specie bank in San Francisco, where the officer had an account from which he sent funds to Thompson, according to the indictment.

The indictment was returned before Federal Judge Leon York, which who immediately issued bench warrants with bail set at $10,000 each for the two men. The indictment cited 19 alleged overt acts including the following charges:

Thompson, who served one cruise with the navy, stole a schedule of employment of U. S. naval vessels from the U. S. Brooks at San Diego and tore papers from the bulletin board of a naval training station there in August, 1934.

Miyazaki opened a large account with the Yokohama Specie bank in San Francisco on Sept. 24, 1934, and made heavy deposits until Feb. 5, 1935. A few days later he met Thompson on San Pedro street in Los Angeles and gave him $250.

The Japanese officer wrote Thompson in November, 1934, from Stanford University, where he was enrolled as a language officer stating that Thompson's salary would be sent "not later than the first of each month" and asking for the "schedule of force tactics" which were to have started Dec. 5.

The next day Miyazaki had the Japanese bank issue a $300 check which was sent to Thompson and cashed by him at Seaboard National bank here. Other payments by check or in cash were charged. Thompson bought a chief yeoman's uniform, mingled with sailors, and went aboard the battleships Pennsylvania, Colorado, Northampton, Utah and Mississippi. In January, 1935, he had in his possession an index to the files of the U. S. S. Tennessee and a report on the U. S. S. New Mexico's gunnery exercises and short-range battle practice.

Serving Jail Term

Thompson, now serving a 60 day jail term for masquerading as a navy seaman, confessed last March federal agents said, and attempted to trap the Japanese officer for them.

His former room-mate, William James Tunney, who was brought here from Texas several months ago and held as a material witness, testified at the grand jury hearing.

The Japanese officer was also known here as "Tanny." Because of the international aspect that Oriental's indictment gave the case, U. S. Attorney Pierson M. Hall was summoned to Washington, D. C., for a conference with officials of the state, navy and justice departments.

RIGHT-OF-WAY GRANTED

The State of California yesterday was granted the right to take a half-acre strip of right-of-way, near Anaheim, with the payment of only $1 damages to the heirs of the late Elizabeth Schumacher, owner of the property.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel heard the claim of the heirs that the half-acre strip was not included in lands deeded to Louis Booms and Kunigunda Hough, from whom the state obtained right-of-way deeds, which covered the property in dispute. Judge Scovel rejected the claim.

NO CHANGE IS REPORTED IN CITRUS STRIKE

All was quiet throughout the county today in the citrus pickers strike, as Ricardo Hill, Mexican consul from Los Angeles, and Lucas Lucio, his representative in Orange county, reiterated previous statements to the effect that the strike is over so far as they are concerned "except that we will consider injustices which people may call us in to discuss."

Sheriff Logan Jackson and Capt. H. C. Meehan, reporting numerous meetings in the county last night, chiefly in the Corona camp, Piacencia and Orange areas, declared no violence has resulted and no further arrests of alleged agitators, followed.

At meetings last night, after the Corona camp group voted unanimously "to continue the strike," Lucio told them "it would be better to go back to Mexico and live as beggars than to go to work as pickers in Orange county under present conditions," according to investigating officers of the sheriff's office. He pointed out that average earnings for a six months' period was $280, less $124 for rent of "shack" homes.

So far as the growers and packers are concerned, according to Stuart Strathman, packing house representative, after a meeting at the courthouse yesterday with Edward Fitzgerald, conciliation commissioner of the United States government, Lucio, Consul Hill and Dr. L. C. Deming, grower, the strike is over. "All we want is to be let alone," he said. "The growers want the privilege of harvesting their crops in peace; no one has to work for them. We are now getting along all right, with the workers we have, and are meeting pro-rate shipments regularly. As for the injustices, most of them have been remedied in the past."

"The growers, generally, are willing to deal fairly with the workers," Dr. Deming said, but Consul Hill challenged the statement.

Consul Hill declared following statements to Fitzgerald of grievances held by the Mexican workers:

"As a matter of fact, I and my representatives here never have been responsible for any violence in connection with the strike and we have no connection whatsoever with the Communists or persons of similar ilk and never have had. I am serving notice today that I and my representatives, here for the Mexican government, no longer have any connection with the strike in any way and will not be responsible for any violence in the future. The Mexicans of Orange county are not agitators."

Dr. Deming produced data from association books and those of his own, showing growers' losses. He pointed out the straight salary of $3.30 per nine-hour day, asked by some of the strikers, is "impossible" because a man cannot pay more than his income. Solution of the transportation problem is promised by the associations without regard to current pickers' demands. Dr. Deming indicated, Strathman said yesterday's meeting was in no way one of arbitration and the growers and packing houses cannot and will not recognize a union. Lucio presented names of 23 picking foremen which strikers want discharged.

BOURBONS END
PARTY RULING

each Democratic congressman or senator.

The committee recessed at 12:30 p. m. to 3 p. m. after turning over to a sub-committee the job of drafting a resolution for consideration by the full committee regarding the question of a change in delegate representation.

Names Sub-Committee

The sub-committee was named by Chairman Bennett Clark. In addition to Clark it included Sen. Millard Tydings, D., Md.; W. W. Hastings, Oklahoma; Beeman Strong, Texas; W. W. Durbin, Ohio; Sen. Dennis Chavez, New Mexico; and John J. O'Connor of New York.

The two-thirds rule is one of the oldest of Democratic traditions. It was born in 1832 as a maneuver by Andrew Jackson to prevent the vice presidential nomination of John Calhoun. Through the years, it has served to occasionally split the party into bitter convention factions.

Arrayed in its defense today were delegates from Texas, Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi. Vitriolic denunciations of the attempt of party leaders to abandon it was expected in a minority report from the sub-committee.

Abrogation, its friends held.

would give states like New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois dominant power. The South admittedly no longer would be able to exercise a veto. Small states, the opponents of the change argued, would lose convention influence.

Sounds Warning

Warnings that the change, if accepted by the convention, would introduce an "element of disturbance," came from Gov. Bibb Graves, of Alabama, Gov. James V. Alford, of Texas, and Rep. Eugene Cox of Georgia.

Meanwhile, Sen. Bennett Clark, son of Champ Clark, who lost the presidential nomination in 1912 because of the rule, and Farley tried to calm southern tempers. They knew they had enough pledged delegations to assure convention approval of the abrogation proposal. Clark said he had expected a "little flare-up" and indicated he was open minded on the suggested peace offering of a recommendation for a rules revision calling for delegation strength on the basis of voting strength.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

Club No. 7 of Santa Ana will meet Friday night at 7:30 at the Orange Avenue Christian church, Orange and McFadden, when the matter of sending delegates to the national convention will be discussed. All are urged to attend. F. L. Carrier will be the principal speaker.

Orange club No. 3 will meet Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at headquarters, 149 South Glassell street, with W. A. Zimmerman, of Santa Ana, as principal speaker. The public is invited.

PLOT FAINTS

James raised it so I could get by. He told me to put the box under her foot. He slipped the slide top of the box and pushed her left foot into the box with his hand.

"Was the snake alive at the time?" asked Assistant Deputy District Attorney Eugene Williams.

"Yes, the snake was alive and bit her on the foot," answered Hope.

Hope said he took his wife home as she had been waiting in his car, unaware of the plot. Then he returned to James' home.

"Those snakes are no good," Hope said James told him, explaining Mary was not dead.

"Well, then take her to a hospital and forget it," Hope said he suggested to James.

"No, this thing is blown higher than a kite, and I'm going in and drown her," Hope quoted James.

Hope said he waited in the garage, drinking whiskey until dawn of August 5, when James came out and said Mary was dead.

Hope said James took him to the side of the dead bride and together they carried her to a shallow lily pond on the James' lawn, where James placed her face down in the water.

RETIREES AFTER FORTY YEARS AS MINISTER

The Rev. John D. Stivers, pastor of the Orange Avenue Christian church, Santa Ana, will bring to a conclusion 41 years of service in the church next Sunday, when he will retire following his last official act as minister of the Santa Ana church. The Rev. Mr. Stivers has been pastor of the Santa Ana church for the past two and a half years, and during his 41 years of active service, he spent 16 years in the evangelistic field.

The Rev. Mr. Stivers will not give up preaching entirely, but will officiate at various times in other churches in the state. No one has yet been chosen to fill the vacancy created by his resignation. All day services will mark his resignation Sunday, and those who wish to pay tribute to the veteran minister are urged to attend. A lunch will be served at noon on the church lawn. After leaving Santa Ana, the Rev. Mr. Stivers will establish his residence at 121 Fern street, Ontario.

RESIDENT HERE IN 1876 DIES AT SAN DIEGO

Private services for Raney Garney, 66, one of Santa Ana's pioneer residents and early ball player who died at his home in San Diego yesterday, will be held from the Smith and Tutthill mortuary in Santa Ana, the date to be announced later. The prominent rancher had lived in Orange county for 40 years before establishing a residence on a ranch near San Diego. Mr. Garney, who first came to Santa Ana on Dec. 17, 1876, was a member of the first ball team ever organized here. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida Garney, whom he married in Santa Ana in 1901. She is the former Miss Ida Henry. Other survivors are his sister, Mrs. Nellie Young of San Diego, Mrs. I. A. Mechem of San Bernardino, Mrs. Margaret Garney Downs of Los Angeles, and Louise Garney of Pasadena.

WPA PROJECTS GET APPROVAL OF PRESIDENT

Three more Works Progress Administration projects have been approved by President Roosevelt for operation in Orange county and will be launched here as soon as allocation of federal funds is made, it was announced today by Dan Mulherson, county WPA manager.

The projects are minor in nature, two of them being supplementary projects approved so that work on the original projects could be continued after funds ran out.

One of the projects is for alterations and improvements to the Silverado school plant and grounds. This project will cost the WPA $1137 and the sponsor, the Silverado school district, $297.

Supplementing work being done through the county surveyor's office on a project to survey streets and intersections in Orange, a new supplement to the original project calls for an expenditure of $2244 by the WPA and $857 by the sponsor.

The other supplementary project is for demolishing and reconstruction of the Washington school at La Habra. The project calls for expenditure of $985 from federal funds and $500 by the school district, as project sponsor.

ANAHEIM RANCHER DIES EARLY TODAY

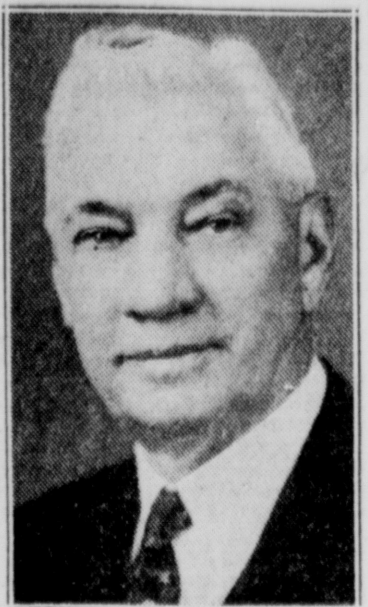

Rites for Homer S. Sanford, 81, prominent Anaheim rancher, who died at his home early today, will be held from the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary in Anaheim, the date to be announced later. Mr. Sanford had been a resident of Anaheim for the past nine years and prior to that time had lived in Santa Ana for nine years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helma Sanford of Anaheim, his daughter, Mrs. Julia Conover of Portland, Ore., and two grandsons and one great-grandson.

Apple peelings are said to contain six times as much vitamin C as does the pulp near the core.

CHAUFFEURS, TRUCK DRIVERS, ORGANIZE

Organization of a chauffeurs, truck drivers and helpers union was completed last night with the initiation of a class of 40 at Carpenters' hall, 402 West Fourth street, Santa Ana. The ceremonies were under the direction of officers of San Pedro local No. 692. A new class of 35 will be initiated at the next meeting of the union, July 6, at which time election of officers will also be held. Alvin H. Bauer, 1006 North Main street, Santa Ana, was last night appointed business agent of the newly organized union.

MORE THAN 300 TO ATTEND BIG JOLLIFICATION

Sunflowers, the official flower of Kansas, will form the background tonight when Orange county Republicans gather at Veterans' hall in Santa Ana to hear Lieutenant Governor George Hatfield in his initial address in his campaign for Gov. Alf Landon. The jollification and rally, held under the auspices of the Republican County Central committee and the Orange County Republican assembly, will start at 6:30 p. m.

Particular honor will be paid tonight to Delegate to the National Convention R. Y. Williams, and his alternate, State Senator Nelson T. Edwards. These men helped nominate Landon for president, and are expected to give some intimate sidelights on the convention.

Speaker of the House Ted Craig, prominent Orange county Republican and assemblyman from the 75th district, will act as master of ceremonies. Committees in charge of arranging the rally announced today that over 300 tickets to the affair have already been sold. Many who will be unable to attend the dinner are expected to be present for the addresses later in the evening.

From all indications, the rally tonight will be one of the most colorful of its kind ever staged in Orange county. Enthusiastic Landon supporters have taken trucks into the fields throughout the county in search of sunflowers, and loads of them are being brought to Santa Ana today in honor of the Kansas who has been chosen leader of the Republican party.

Tickets for the frolic are being sold by Franklin West, Lloyd Banks, W. C. May and several other county Republicans. The price point is 75 cents for the dinner and fine program that is promised.

GOP SPEAKER

George Hatfield, lieutenant governor of the State of California, who will be the principal speaker at the Republican Jollification Rally tonight at the Legion hall.

FIND SEVENTH THIRD PARTY IS VICTIM OF PET DISCUSSED BY MONKEY'S BITE TOASTMASTERS

Seven persons are undergoing the Pasteur treatment today as a result of being bitten by a monkey owned by Willis Hason, of Placentia, a new victim having been found yesterday, Mrs. Thelma Sizle, of Anaheim.

Mrs. Sizle reported to Dr. K. E. Sutherland, county health officer, that she was bitten some time ago while feeding cherries to the monkey. While authorities are not sure that the pet was suffering from rabies at that time, it was deemed best for Mrs. Sizle to take the treatment.

Others who were bitten by the monkey were Bobbie Jerome, J. T. Johnndrew, Miss Esther Gonzales, Roy Parker, Stanley Christensen and Willis Hason.

The pet went on a rampage in the Placentia Presbyterian church Sunday, disrupting services after attacking several persons. The animal was finally shot after tear gas proved ineffective.

here recently by its founder, Ruth Paison Show.

Vacations, travel and politics held the center of attention at last night's meeting of the Toastmasters club, Smedley Chapter No. 1.

The table topic, suggested by R. H. Lawver, was "Do we need a third party?" and from the expressions heard around the table it appeared to be the general opinion that we do not need a new party, but are likely to have it nevertheless.

W. S. Phelps, speaking on "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," gave a graphic description of life on the road and in the hotel camps, which won him first place on the list of speakers for the evening. Dwight Hamilton presented "Travel on a Bus" with so much force and feeling that he was given second place.

The fallacies of our present political system were discussed by Arthur Woodworth, who proposed a system of rubber-stamped postcards to be sent in by delegates as an efficient substitute for the present plan which involves travel and expense to very little purpose. The principles of soil chemistry were cleverly applied to human life by Karl Bosch, under the title, "P-H Values." A. W. Goddard contrasted the San Diego exposition of this season with what it offered last year, and W. J. Ferris spoke on "Mountain Driving."

H. S. House handled the gavel as toastmaster, with Henry Bosch as dictionary critic and Walter Ferris as general critic. President George DeRouhae announced next Wednesday's program to be handled by Carson A. Fox, with a list of speakers which includes LeRoy Quirk, R. Carson Smith, Harry Becker, B. H. Lawver, J. Lee Woods, and Henry Bosch. The club will continue its regular meetings throughout the summer.

Text Of Sen. Robinson's Address To Bourbon Parley

PLATFORM PLEDGES KEPT BY NEW DEAL, MONEY POLICY IS TRADE LIFE-SAVER, HE SAYS

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Following is the text of Senator Joe Robinson's address before the Democratic National Convention in session here last night:

National campaigns heretofore usually have involved sharply defined issues on which political discussions have centered. The principal concern of the recent Republican convention at Cleveland was the choice of a candidate for the Presidency with the declarations embraced in its platform.

It was not the first time in our history that a nominee, in advance of accepting the nomination, has placed his interpretation on the language employed, but it is the first instance in which a candidate by keeping silent on national public questions and after maneuvering himself into a position assuring his selection, has indicated a disposition to accept the five or more subjects on which his party had spoken.

It is also the first case in which the Platform Committee and convention have anticipated the purpose of a prospective nominee to break away in a direction opposite to their movement by declaring that it would constitute a breach of public faith and of private honor should he fail or refuse to conform to the policies laid down for his guidance.

Charge Nation Betrayed
Republicans leaders lately have shown tender, if too long delayed, appreciation for the platform on which the Democrats won the election of 1932.

Their speakers enter this campaign declaring that we have betrayed the country by failing to carry out the promises which at first they regarded as repugnant but which are now dear to the hearts of our opponents.

The Roosevelt administration has faithfully complied with the spirit of the Chicago platform promises. If there has been partial departure as to the letter of the planks in that platform relating to economy and balancing the budget that failure is attributable to the constantly changing conditions and necessities and to the guerrilla warfare of the Republican army.

Disastrous Republican Policies
Because of the policies of three Republican administrations extending over a period of twelve years, a condition existed March 4, 1933, which cannot be adequately described. Breakdown was threatened in the government of many States as well as in that of the nation. Millions of laborers were out of work. The spectre of poverty cast its appalling shadow over the land. Credit sources were dried up, financial institutions were bankrupt, factories were closed down; agriculture was profligate; the savings of cities were being swept away; business was at a standstill; our foreign commerce had almost disappeared, and hoarding was general. These conditions had resulted in large part from governmental policies: economic isolation, riotous speculation, promotion of monopolies and the contraction of credit for the private profits of market manipulators.

Hoover Assailed
You have not forgotten—can you ever forget the gloom, the sorrow and the distress which clouded the hopes and hampered the activities of all of our people?

President Hoover seemed powerless to suggest any method by which the engulfing tides of adversity might be impeded or turned back. All he could do, apparently, was to boast a refracted vision which he claimed enabled him to see prosperity around corners.

Having employed the army to drive from the Capitol thousands of hungry war veterans, he retired to the cloister of the White House and indulged in crystal gazing to predict the quick return of better times which never began to return until after he had been retired to the sun-baked gardens of Palo Alto to give place to the new leader of the nation, President Roosevelt.

Action by Democrats
The Democratic leadership recognized that drastic changes in governmental policies were necessary to bring back courage and confidence and to restore financial stability.

Feeble and ordinary processes had been tried and had failed. New and decisive methods and measures were demanded and required. They were necessarily formulated with haste. It is not surprising that difficulties were encountered or that mistakes were made. To have awaited then the slow working out and execution of plans for recovery would have been fatal. No one is wise enough, even with post-vision, to know what would have happened if extraordinary legislation had not been speedily enacted and put into effect.

The banking laws were revised; insurance for bank deposits was provided; runs on banks were stopped; and the national credit was employed to prevent bankruptcy and ruin of banking institutions, of railways and of key industries.

To Benefit Farmers
For twelve years before March 4, 1933, Republican administrations had grappled with the farm problem. The only important measure they enacted, the "Farm Marketing Act," had cost the Federal Treasury $500,000,000 and had left agriculture in a worse condition.

The Democratic administration created a system for co-ordinating production with consumption, and for the payment of benefits to farmers, which quickly restored agricultural prices to an approximate level with the prices of industrial products. Indebtedness under which farm homes were being foreclosed was financed at reduced interest rates. Foreclosures were suspended. Quickly thereafter better conditions with that such funds should be expended solely by local agencies of the States. Their contention is that this will eliminate politics and prevent waste and corruption. Experience has not shown that to be true.

To require the Federal government to provide the funds, and to relinquish all control over their expenditure would be to invite competition among the localities to secure grants from the government which would result in demands so great that the national credit would be impaired.

Few Abuses Seen

With respect to politics, the record shows that there have been less abuses than under any other administration that has been employed. State officials have been kept from political influence. Indeed, local power on State and county officers might prove irresistible and overpowering.

There is no plan conceivable under which no waste will occur and under which all abuses may be prevented. So long as the national government provides the major portion of the sums necessary for the employment, it must, for its protection, and for the protection of those who are required to pay the bill, retain a liberal measure of supervision both as to the purpose and the manner of the expenditures.

The drain on the national Treasury by reason of extraordinary measures, particularly including those relating to unemployment, has been great. It must be reduced as soon and as rapidly as circumstances permit. Unemployment assistance cannot be abandoned so long as there are large groups of American men and women unable to find an opportunity to earn livelihood.

Sound Money

Much will be heard of sound money during this campaign. When world economic conditions were approaching their worst, Great Britain and many other powers went off the gold standard and resorted to what is known as "managed currency." This advantage thus derived in trade and commerce over peoples still dealing under the gold standard became manifest.

To prevent our foreign trade from being taken over by competitors, and to avoid further contraction of credit which threatened, we reduced the gold content of the dollar. We did not create an unsound currency.

Indeed, United States currency is the soundest and the best in all the world, and we propose to keep it so.

Had we remained on the gold standard while competitor nations were resorting to managed currencies we would have lost, not only our foreign commerce and have witnessed our domestic trade reduced to the vanishing point, but the government would have been compelled to face a demand for monetary inflation that would have been irresistible. Once the printing presses are started turning out money you can never hope to stop expenditures or to stabilize values until the mania has run its course. That has been the experience of every nation known to history.

Landon's Message Analyzed
The Republican platform adopted at Cleveland declares for sound money in the language of the Democratic platform of 1932. The fiercest issue in the Platform Committee at Cleveland was over return to the gold standard. The committee repudiated the proposition and the convention without controversy supported the committee.

At the beginning of his speech nominating Gov. Landon, Mr. Hamilton, the boss of the Cleveland convention, announced that the candidate had views of his own on the monetary question. In his telegram the candidate declared that he favored return to the gold standard—currency convertible into gold.

It is true that he hedged the issue by declaring that the proposed change should be made "when it can be accomplished without penalizing our democratic economy and without injury to producers of agricultural products."

For that declaration, made immediately before his nomination, the Republican candidate for President has been proclaimed as bold and defiant.

Not Without Penalties
Almost everyone realizes that there can be no return to the gold standard under present conditions without "penalizing our democratic economy and without injury to producers of agricultural products."

Gov. Landon did not dare advocate an immediate return to the gold standard. His effort and that of former President Hoover to have a plank incorporated in the Cleveland platform was a failure. Candidate Landon's declaration on the subject evades the issue by the use of language that clearly shows he does not believe it safe and practicable to re-establish, at this time, a gold standard currency.

Landon Out of Sympathy
The Cleveland convention did an unusual thing. It implicitly questioned the good faith of its prospective nominee and his willingness to stand upon the platform by the last clause in that document which is as follows:

"The acceptance of the nomination tendered by this convention carries with it as a matter of private honor and public faith an undertaking by every candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth."

When that language is considered in connection with the well-known fact that in five important particulars the platform committee rejected the views of Governor Landon, it is undeniable that the committee was preparing for a candidate whom it knew to be out of sympathy with the platform.

Turned Down on Five Points
That there are five particulars in which the candidate was turned down by the platform committee, the press reports from the pen of Mr. William Allen White, who constitutes the head of the Landon "brain trust," may be cited, sources.

In a copyrighted article emanating from Cleveland on the 11th of June, 1936, Mr. White published these five points raised by the candidate and rejected by the committee and the convention.

What are the five points?

First (quoted from Mr. White's article)—"Landon telephoned from Topeka this morning he would like to have a declaration putting all postoffice employees, including the postmaster-general, under civil service." Neither the committee nor the convention would stand for placing cabinet officers under the civil service.

Second—"He also desired a plank denying to states the right to control hours of service, working conditions and wages. Landon advocates an amendment to the Constitution—his plea was denied."

The committee and the convention not only denied his plea but adopted declarations that the integrity and the authority of the supreme court have been flouted, and pledged resistance to all attempts to impair the authority of the supreme court.

He also advocated adoption of state laws to abolish sweatshops and child labor, and to protect women and children with respect to maximum hours, minimum wages, and decent working conditions—which is exactly what the supreme court held in Morehead vs. Tipaldo the states cannot do.

Third—The third particular in which Mr. William Allen White declared that Candidate Landon was rebuffed by the committee and the convention is with respect to the gold standard and a currency convertible into gold. Mr. White said: "After considerable protest he ceased firing on the currency."

Fourth—According to Mr. White the Kansas delegation (for Governor Landon) offered a plank "looking directly to lower tariffs, but under the protective theory. The plank as it stands represents a compromise."

World Court Issue
Fifth—in 1932, the Republicans adopted a declaration favoring the United States joining the World Court and boasted that Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover had urged that course. The Cleveland platform pledges that the United States shall not become a member of the World Court. Candidate Landon opposed the declaration. Again quoting Mr. White: "Gov. Landon over the telephone this morning asked that the abandonment of the World Court be reconsidered, his request was almost unanimously rejected."

This bit of convention history disclosed that the Platform Committee in the convention doubted whether the candidate would carry out the platform and that they sought to bind him by the unusual charge made in advance that if he failed to do so his action would constitute a breach of private honor and of faith.

Tariff Repeal Perilous
It has been shown that the candidate of the Republican party proposed a platform declaration in favor of reduced rates, which was rejected.

The Cleveland platform declares for the repeal of the reciprocal tariff law, and for an embargo on livestock, dairy and agricultural products.

Under the reciprocal tariff law there have been negotiated various trade agreements which have had the effect of stimulating our foreign commerce without materially interfering with our domestic trade. To repeal this law and impose embargoes will virtually mean the end of our foreign commerce. American ships will rot at their docks, and our vessels will disappear from the seas. Under the Republican policy surpluses will continue to pile up in the home market to the ruin of American producers.

Balancing Budget
The Republican platform declares for the immediate balancing of the budget without additional taxes, by simply reducing expenditures. This suggestion is intended to attract taxpayers. No one close to the leadership of the Republican party regards the proposition as practical in the immediate future.

The Roosevelt administration has balanced the budget except as to extraordinary expenditures and the question of whether employment relief expenditures shall be discontinued in order to accomplish what we all desire to be done as speedily as possible, namely establish complete balance between revenues and government expenses.

The last session of the Congress, with the approval of Republican members, authorized approximately $750,000,000 to be expended for flood control, the expenditure to be spread over a period of years.

In addition, there have been a billion and a half dollars appropriated for work relief during the fiscal year 1937. These and other items keep the budget out of balance for the present. To balance the budget promptly would be to terminate at once all relief. Is this desirable? Do the American people wish to deny all assistance from the national government to workmen who are out of employment and who cannot secure engagements from private industry?

A comparison of the income tax, the excess profits tax, alcoholic liquor and other miscellaneous internal revenue, exclusive of the agricultural adjustment tax, for the first six months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, with the same months of the year ending June 30, 1935, shows an increase of almost 100 per cent.

During the six months period July 1 to December 31, 1935, revenue collections were about equal to those for the full fiscal year of 1932. During that year $1,557,000,000 from the sources named were collected. During the fiscal year 1935, $2,730,000,000 came into the treasury from the same sources.

Human Standards

The Democratic policy contemplates balancing the budget as promptly as this can be done without permitting citizens who cannot secure private employment, to experience suffering from hunger and cold. This policy we believe to be justified from both an economic and a humane standpoint.

By the quick adoption of machines, employment in America has been maladjusted. Added to this, has been the loss of purchasing power incident to the depression and unemployment arising because of the reduction of business and enterprise. As these are revived and restored, and as hours of labor are shortened, the necessity for work relief appropriations will diminish and disappear.

Vital Laws Invalid

Decisions of the Supreme Court in various cases have had the effect of slowing up national recovery because they have held invalid the National Recovery Act, the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Guffey coal law and some other laws intended to prevent labor controversies, eliminate unfair competition in trade and in industry and to secure fair prices for agricultural products. In spite of these decisions the American people are going forward. We recognize that the decisions of the supreme court until reversed are final and we abide by them. Nevertheless, we do not regard the court above and beyond those factors and causes which naturally influence the minds of human beings.

The decision in the Guffey Coal Act case held that the Federal government has no power to prescribe maximum hours and minimum wages for workers in coal mines, because, among other things, it constitutes a transgression of the rights and functions of the states. In the New York maximum hours and minimum wages case recently handed down, the majority held that the states cannot prescribe maximum hours and minimum wages on the theory that to do so violates the right of contract secured to our citizens by the Federal constitution.

G. O. P. War Regulations
Notwithstanding this situation the Republican party advocates legislation by the States, and binds its candidate not to seek an amendment to the Federal Constitution authorizing the Congress or State Legislatures to regulate maximum hours and minimum wages for laborers.

Whatever may be the just basis for differences of opinion respecting other decisions, the bar of the United States overwhelmingly repudiates the denial by the Supreme Court of the power to regulate maximum hours and minimum wages. By the decision the right of private contract is not fortified and strengthened. In a practical sense it is weakened and destroyed. What right of private contract is secured by the majority opinion to the woman who exhausts her physical energies by toiling excessive hours for starvation wages in unsanitary sweatshops to support herself and her dependent children? What power has she, unsupported by law, to protect her rights and to secure fair and adequate compensation for her labor? How does this decision strengthen freedom or glorify justice?

In Liberty's Name

Oh, blind and impartial justice, what blunders are committed in thy name! Liberty, art thou both deaf and dumb? Canst thou not behold the pale faces, the emaciated forms, the sweating brows, the trembling hands and quivering lips of women and children workers who by the decision are left at the mercy of those who have neither pity nor charity for the oppressed and the poor.

The decision in Morehead vs. Tipaldo should be reversed under due process of law clause which has been unjustly invoked as its justification.

That decision itself has answered the charge of pompous plutocrats that Roosevelt and his administration seek to undermine and destroy the Supreme Court. The Republicans, in their platform, attack the decision and half-heartedly advocate the passage of State laws which by the precedent of Morehead vs. Tipaldo would be of doubtful constitutionality.

The weight of the argument in the opinion of lawyers and laymen, it is believed, sustains the minority, rather than the majority opinion.

Can't Be Disloyal

Certainly when such judges as Chief Justice Hughes, Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo declare a statute consistent with the fundamental law, and criticize the views to the contrary of the judges constituting a majority as unsound and subversive it cannot be disloyal or revolutionary for citizens who believe that the consequences inevitably will be to deprive women and children laborers of valid legal protection to express their opinion on the subject with firmness and emphasis.

Everyone, including those sagacious politicians who until recently sought partisan advantage by praising our highest judicial tribunal for upsetting various features of the national recovery program, now seeks concurrence in a plan to overcome a decision which, they say, if permitted to stand will prove oppressive.

The Cleveland platform denounces the Democratic party for the policies and measures which have been adopted during the Roosevelt administration for the promotion of national recovery. Many Republican members in both branches of the Congress suggesting no substitute for the passage of the legislation because they, as did Democratic members of the Congress, recognized the extreme and unusual conditions which made extraordinary action imperative.

Support Important Acts

This is true of the most important laws held unconstitutional by the supreme court, including the national recovery act, the agricultural adjustment law and the Guffey coal measure. It would be interesting and perhaps surprising to those who have been impressed with the denunciation of the measures and policies of the Roosevelt administration by the Republican convention to hear the names of the prominent Republican leaders in the senate and in the house of representatives who supported the measures referred to and who now find themselves denounced by their own convention as intimidators, usurpers and advocates of tyrannical policies.

National defense is a subject of interest to every citizen loyal to our flag and to the institutions which it symbolizes. The Republican platform on this subject is indefinite. It favors an army and navy, including air corps, adequate for defense. No standard is raised as to what constitutes adequacy.

The platform declares for co-operation with other nations in the control of armaments and in the traffic of arms. It is a trite definition without definite meaning. Every administration since the World War, and some before that, has offered co-operation with rival powers for the limitation of military and naval arms.

Can't Reduce Now

Just now when international antagonisms are being stimulated, when continents tremble beneath the tread of maddened armies and when age-long hatreds are prompting nations to strife, it is impossible to accomplish substantial reduction in military force without sacrifice of national security. The Roosevelt administration is building the navy to full strength contemplated by the Washington and London treaties. It is maintaining a well-trained and efficient army. Our platform on national defense is written in the record of achievements.

Another feature of the Cleveland platform which discloses how hard its sponsors were driven to find a popular issue relates to the collection of war debts. The contrary will not be permitted to forget that it was the Hoover administration which granted that moratorium; and that the moratorium was construed by debtor nations as an encouragement to their repudiation of their obligations to our government.

The blame for this blunder in the conduct of international affairs must rest chiefly where it belongs, namely on the sage of Palo Alto.

Laxity Assorted

As a sop to the senator from Idaho, Mr. Borah, at the Cleveland convention, declared, in general terms, for the enforcement of criminal laws and for the enactment of additional legislation to prevent private monopoly.

These declarations would be received with more confidence if the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations had not neglected the enforcement of criminal laws and fostered the organization of trusts and combinations tending to drive all forms of business and industry under the domination of monopoly.

The Democratic administration against those great combinations which crush them and drive them out of existence.

It has terminated the reign of gangsters by destroying the kidnaper, the national bank robber and the outlaw who seeks refuge in flight to other states from the place of his crime.

Our platform is to be read in the record of the best national law enforcement ever recorded in the history of our nation.

NO BREACH OF RIGHTS

As an illustration, however, of the attempt to attract support by the announcement of principles which are generally accepted, and concerning which there can be no partisan division, your attention is directed to the "bill of rights" which pledges preservation, protection and defense against all intimidation, speech, press and radio.

There has been no impairment or threat to impair any of them by the Roosevelt administration, although the misrepresentation has been made that in some mysterious way they have been disregarded and held in contempt.

The principal danger to the liberties both of the individual and the masses exists in the power of monopolies and trusts which under the last three Republican administrations thrived and prospered with respect to both production and distribution.

Nothing of importance was done during any one of the three administrations referred to, to check the tendency toward monopoly. On

CARMICHAEL IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY BOARD

W. J. "Jim" Carmichael of Fullerton today announced his candidacy for supervisor for the third district and outlined his views and placed himself definitely on record as a progressive candidate.

Carmichael, former city councilman of Fullerton and a past president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County, has taken an active part in civic affairs of his community and the county as a whole, he pointed out. He has been a resident of Fullerton for 14 years.

Thoroughly familiar with Orange county activities and possibilities through his association with civic and official bodies, he hopes to have an opportunity to put progressive ideas into effect as a member of the board of supervisors, he said.

In outlining his views on county affairs Carmichael said: "I will not allow private interests to interfere with public business."

"I will know no creed except duty to my fellow man and will strive to be friendly and approachable at all times."

"I propose to keep in close and constant touch with all sections of the Third District, to consider all suggestions fairly and to keep citizens of the district informed and advised on all public questions."

"I will refuse to countenance employment of any campaign manager or high pressure organization from outside Orange county to run any campaign on any issue of public interest."

"I believe in full cooperation with other members of the board in all things that tend to efficient and successful operation of county business."

For six months after it is hatched, the box turtle does not eat.

WALTER EGGER TO REMAIN AS SPURGEON SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

The request of Spurgeon school patrons that Principal Walter Egger be retained in his post at that school, instead of being transferred to the principalship of the Logan Mexican school, as proposed, was granted in recommendations submitted to the board of education today by City Superintendent Frank A. Henderson.

On the eve of his departure for Portland, Oregon, to attend the convention of the National Educational Association, of which he is a director, Superintendent Henderson presented to Acting Chairman R. R. Hays, of the board, a revised schedule of assignments, suggesting that the board act upon it at its next meeting.

The board may act at a special meeting called for next Monday evening to open bids on two new Junior College buildings. The revised assignments leave Egger in his present post at Spurgeon school.

Original Plans
Original recommendations called for transfer of Egger from Spurgeon to Logan school, to carry out a program of industrial arts for the Mexican children. As explained by Henderson in his letter to Hays today, "one of our greatest problems at all times is as another principal and another teacher were involved in the planned transfer, he would require a little time in which to work out his reassignment."

Delegation Irked
The refusal act at once irked the Spurgeon delegation no little, but the board stuck by its guns, and deferred action until the next meeting. So Henderson today presented his revised plan, leaving Egger at his Spurgeon post, as he had told the group Monday night probably would be done.

In his letter today, to Hays, after explaining the purpose of making the Mexican children into self-supporting citizens, he added: "However, in view of the request from the parents of Spurgeon school children, whose interests and wishes we desire to respect, and also having in mind their plea for an early decision, I am submitting to you now these revised assignments, upon which you are asked to take final action at your next meeting."

The letter further noted that Egger plans to attend Columbia University during the summer and would be "gratified to have a decision before he leaves for the East."

PICTURES OF FIGHT TO BE SHOWN HERE LAST TIME TONIGHT

Pictures of the sensational Schmeling-Louis fight which have been showing at the Broadway and Fox West Coast theaters for the last three days will be held over for one more night, according to an announcement made today by Manager Lester J. Fountain. The pictures will be screened here for the last time tonight.

A change of program also is announced for the Fox Broadway theater tonight which will bring a double bill with "Palm Springs" as the feature attraction starring Frances Langford and Smith Ballew. The second feature is "Counterfeit," a story of the federal T-men with Chester Morris and Marian Marsh in the starring roles.

The locale for "Palm Springs" is California's favorite winter resort. The story is that of a daughter who plans to marry money in order to provide for her father but is thwarted when true love enters in the person of a cowboy. The story is well acted and serves as a fitting medium for beautiful photography, the appealing voice of Frances Langford, gay music and the varied activities of this popular resort. It is a picture suitable for the entire family.

Miniature is derived from the Latin, "minium," meaning "red lead," which is used in painting. Paintings of all sizes once were called miniatures.

THE PERSONAL COLUMN

Joe Kogler, Santa Ana's new baseball coach, pronounces his name as if it were spelled Kog-ler.

Emory Lambert is getting the air as a National Night league umpire because he talked back to bleacher bugs at Orange, according to Prexy Walter Wentz.

Sid Ziff, Jewish sports editor of the Herald-Express, is on the high seas for a three-month vacation in the Orient. Nobody but a Ziff could get away with that.

"String" McDonnell insists the only guy who ever got his goat in baseball was Bill Cole, ex-manager of Santa Ana's Stars. Says McDonnell: "I used to hope that guy wouldn't even speak to me. Why he made me mad if he only said hello."

Appointment of Harry Shipkey as freshman football coach at Stanford means an advancement for another fellow who learned the game on the gridirons of Orange county. Shipkey is a Fullerton product, a brother of Ted, an old All-America end. He's been at Salinas Jaycees.

Silencing talk of reducing the salary of National Night league umpires, President Walter Wentz, who once was a guesser himself, recounted: "It's an awful job, boys, awful. You don't know the pitiful little straws to which an umpire grasps. I remember one night at Whittier. The moon was full, I looked at it over my right shoulder. That's traditional good luck for an ump. You know, Well, that was the night they stoned me out of the park." Continuing with his memories, Wentz sighed: "You'll never know the sick feeling that used to come to me when I saw 'Big Bill' Cole charging out of the dugout like a mad elephant."

Coach and Mrs. Bill Foote are on their annual summer's safari in Minnesota. With Bill in tow, The Saint skipper will attend Bernie Bierman's school for coaches next month, returning here around Sept. 1.

Heavyweight Lupe LeMon is missing from his haunts at Fullerton and nobody seems to know where he's gone. His mysterious run-out at the Orange County Athletic club has never been fully explained.

Don Juan Something-or-Other Pico, the rasser, is one of the Orange county boys now. He's living on the ranch of Francisco Landa, near Brea.

Oddities in the Sport News: Dave Meiklejohn, Pomona sports editor, who was the scourge of all American Night league umpires when Pomona was in the inland circuit, has turned umpire himself.

Bob Hall, Long Beach news-aw, wants some "fan, who isn't afraid to take it on the chin for a couple of seasons, rather to get about 15 youngsters, the cream of the Long Beach City League, and renew the Long Beach franchise in the National league next year."

NEW YORK, June 25.—(UP)—The New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox unlimbered their heavy artillery for another battle of base hits today.

When these two American clubs met on the same diamond a slugging match, it was virtually assured. The boys just let off and swing. In 10 games played this year each team has won five. Jointly the Yanks and the Sox have batted out 153 runs, an average of more than 15 per game.

It was the Yanks' turn yesterday as they wallowed four pitchers for 24 hits to take the game 18 to 11. Joe Dimaggio paced the assault with two homers in one inning and two doubles.

Louie Neva Pitch At Tulare

NIGHT LEAGUE 'HOPS UP' 2ND HALF SCHEDULE

BY EDDIE WEST

Louie (The Great) Neva, who pitched and clubbed Huntington Beach to the first-half championship of the National Night league, will not be with the Oilers in the second-half.

Neva leaves next week to join the Tulare club of the San Joaquin Valley league.

His junket will be a "sort of vacation," it was explained, and maybe give the big Russian a chance to pick up a few extra $'s in the Land of Plenty. Huntington Beach retains title to Neva and Larrupin Lou will rejoin the Oilers when and wherever Manager Joe Rodgers feels he needs his services. Most certainly he'll be back for the play-offs if some team other than the Oilers captures the second-half.

Turned in night ball circles for several days, Neva's imminent departure was verified by Rodgers at a meeting of National league managers at Garden Grove last night.

Neva's Departure Evens Race
The announcement was greeted with varying emotions. Most of the managers are frank in their opinion that without Neva and his booming bludgeon the Huntington Beach club will have a tough time adding the second-half to its first-half honors. They figure a red hot race in the second-half will receive waning interest in National division games, which slumped off so sharply this season that only the games between Santa Ana and Huntington Beach drew anything worth mentioning. With no Neva a hot race is anticipated.

Russ Cogan, a fair fast-ball pitcher but by no means a Neva, will do the Oilers' slinging in the second-half, Rodgers said. "And he'll win a lot of games," Rodgers warned the managers. Rodgers also is known to be angling for Long Beach City leaguer named "Steve Borders."

In their effort to pump life into the league, the managers took a revolutionary step at the meeting, held at the residence of President W. B. Wentz. They unanimously adopted a "staggered schedule" for the second-half, the new set-up calling for games on Mondays and Thursdays as well as Tuesdays and Fridays.

By avoiding conflicts, the National expects to give discriminatory fans a chance of watching more than two games each week.

Olive Now Road Club
Olive was given permission to play as a "road team" throughout the second-half. Manager Ben Gekker intimating this was the only way he could continue to maintain a franchise because of poor support from Olive's fans. The Smith Oil company of Anaheim has thrown in with Gekker and hereafter the Packers will be known as Mohawks. They'll have new uniforms with an Indian head on one side of the jerseys.

The new second-half schedule:
First Round
July 6—Olive at Westminster.
July 7—Huntington Beach at Santa Ana; Orange at Anaheim.
July 9—Westminster at Orange.
July 10—Olive at Santa Ana; Anaheim at Huntington Beach.

LEW TENDLER TAKES STUMP FOR AL ETTORE

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—That loud rumbling you hear coming out of Philadelphia is not the Democratic keynote, but Lew Tandler telling the world at large of the merits of his 190-pound heavyweight, Al Ettore.

Tandler, not a bad hand at fighting himself when was in there hopping around with Benny Leonard at 135 pounds gives three broadcasts a day on Ettore. The first comes in the morning when the boys arrive at his combination bar and grill on Broad street for eye-openers, the second at tea time, and the third at hi-ball time around midnight.

I caught yesterday's matinee performance and found Tandler in good voice. He was particularly enthusiastic about his man for only the night before Ettore had beaten Leroy Haynes the "Sepia Seal" and Black Menace No. 2. An Ettore victory over Haynes has ceased to be a novelty to everyone except Tandler, for he has scored three of them. One more, it is reported, and Ettore will get permanent possession of Leroy. This probably would be quite okay with Leroy's handlers, for he has proved a bitter disappointment.

When Joe Louis went into eclipse, Haynes handlers felt he would become Black Menace No. 1, but his licking by Ettore spoiled the dream.

I have yet to see Ettore fight, but from conversation with those who have, and Professor Tandler's lectures, I gather he is of the delightful type known as a "mauler," that is, a fighter who can't hit very hard and is no shakes as boxer, but is strong and willing and keeps wading in.

I saw Ettore—he was in the third row of listeners, drinking in every word of Tandler's discourse—and he looks like a substantial young man. Well under six feet tall, he is built along the lines of the graceful percheron, with a tremendous set of shoulders, a wine cask chest, and short, wagon-tongue arms.

Ettore, through Tandler, has challenged the universe. He'll fight anybody, including Haynes, but is particularly anxious for a bout which will lead him quickly to a shot at Jim Braddock and the championship of the world. According to Tandler, Ettore stopped Braddock in three rounds in 1933.

"Braddock would be easy for my boy," Tandler said in a stage whisper which carried on out the door and across the street, "So would the Schmeling, Louis, Baer and all those other heavyweights Mike Jacobs is juggling around on his summer program. He can fight, he will fight, and he likes to fight."

Tandler, one of the finest lightweights ever to duck a left, said the Joe Louis explosion came as no surprise to him. It isn't possible, he said, to create champion fighters on the sports pages.

BAER HOOTED FROM SAN ANTONIO ARENA

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 25.—(UP)—Max Baer today decided his ring tactics, effective enough against Wilson Dunn, a San Antonio heavyweight, were not appreciated by Dunn's hometown fans. A police escort took Baer from the ring last night after his three round knockout over Dunn. The fans booed loudly as Baer slipped Dunn through the ropes in the third round. Dunn couldn't come back, so Baer yelled at the crowd.

Through a sea of boos and fans threatening violence, Baer was taken to the door.

Undeclared in the whole first-half which they won with fine pitching and timely hitting, the Commercial National Bank's City league champions will be subjected to a searching examination in the Municipal Bowl tonight.

At 9 o'clock they tackle a revitalized Knights of Columbus nine which is frankly out to (1) stop the Commercial's long winning streak, and (2) capture the second-half streamer.

The "Caseys" have signed Ray Ortiz to pitch against Miami Yonel, as well as a bevy of other softball stars. If Ortiz falters, the K. C. can fall back on left-handed Jimmy Haynes who has been released by the South Methodists. Ortiz pitched Anaheim high school to the Orange league prep pennant and is technically eligible to toil here because of his membership in the Santa Ana Knights of Columbus council.

Other new Knights include Bob Wimbush, Melvin Beatty, Harold Ringle and Elwood and Horace Rittner, all home for the summer from Oregon State college. Panfili is the professional football star with the Chicago Cardinals, and the "Caseys" may press the big boy into service as a catcher to work with Ortiz. The Knights also have signed Frank Labrucherie, Les Fulsom and Theo Quartan. About the only ones left of the "first half team" are Earl and Al Halderman.

Tonight's 7:30 engagement is the First National Bank vs. The South Methodists. The Mustangs are after a new pitcher to replace Haynes and Fred Cartwright, both departed. The First Nationals were in the first-half all the way, and with Roy Stout hurling fine ball, figure to get along all right in the "new season."

IRVINE NINE AT BEACH

First-divisioners meet second-divisioners in tonight's cluster of Orange County Night league contests, with the Irvine Beanpickers traveling to Huntington Beach. The standings:

RUEDY IGNORES PROTEST

Vic Ruedy, president of the Orange County Night league, said today he would ignore the protest Irvine filed after losing an extra-inning game at Anaheim last week. The Beanpickers complained because the three runs they scored in the first inning were disallowed after it was discovered that Anaheim's pitching slab was too far away from the batter. Ruedy said he had received the protest but that it didn't mean anything, that he had ruled on the play at the time, and that nothing else would be done about it.

City Leaguers To Act On Protest Monday

President Kenneth Morrison, T. J. Neal and W. F. Menton, Santa Ana City league commissioners, meet next Monday noon at James' cafe to act on the protest of Joe's Grocery in the game it lost Monday night to the Elks, 10-5, the five winning runs being made in the last inning.

The protest was made over the services of Umpire Vic Motry.

Kenneth Miller, manager of the Elks' team, volunteered today to replay the contest under any conditions suitable to the Grocers if the Grocers proved contenders in the second-half race.

The Grocers complained that Umpire Motry, a new man, was a member of the Elks.

MAKE SHARKEY 10-6 FAVORITE OVER BRUBAKER

BOSTON, June 25.—(UP)—Jack Sharkey, 33-year-old former world champion heavyweight boxer, was a 10 to 6 betting favorite to defeat young Phil Brubaker of California in their 10-round bout at Fenway park tonight.

Some 12,000 fans were predicted for Sharkey's fourth comeback bout against the 21-year-old Brubaker who forsook a career in the ministry for one of fistfuffs.

Sharkey's 12-year ring experience was expected to offset Brubaker's sensational record of 16 victories, including 14 knockouts, in 20 professional starts.

HELEN WILLS MOODY LOSES 'POKER FACE'

BERKELEY, June 25.—(UP)—Helen Wills Moody makes her second competitive appearance of the season here today when she and her teammate, Edward G. (Bud) Chandler, meet Mrs. Patys McCoy Brown of San Francisco and Stanley Almuist, Oakland, in a third round mixed doubles match in the California State Tennis Tournament.

Observers said the competition has shown a new Helen Wills Moody. When she started active competition on the Berkeley courts 11 years ago, she won the nickname, "Little Poker Face." The sobriquet did not apply Tuesday. The Wimbledon champion apparently enjoyed every minute of the competition. She smiled, and even laughed occasionally.

WEE MARY HOERNER DEFENDS DIVE TITLE

NEW YORK, June 25.—(UP)—The National A. A. U. women's swimming and diving championships opened today in Oriental pool, Manhattan Beach, featuring the twin attractions of a 12-year-old girl attempting to retain her diving title and an all-star field of 21 swimmers competing for the 100-meter free style crown.

The spotlight today centers on the world's youngest sports champion, frozzed, tow-headed little Mary Hoerner, Miami Beach, Fla., who will defend her 3-meter diving championship.

If the little Florida girl can triumph over eight other entries today, she will rank as the favorite for the Olympic diving title at Berlin in August.

GENE SARAZEN SHOOTS 73 IN BRITISH GOLF

HOYLAK, June 25.—(UP)—Cocky little Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn. winner in 1932, shot a par-breaking 73, one stroke under regulation figures, to put himself within striking distance of the leader in the opening round of the British Open golf championship today.

Sarazen, dropping in putts from all angles and missing several long ones by inches, went out over the Hoylake course in 35, one under par, and then faltered slightly coming home and took a 38.

R. A. Whitcombe, British professional, and Jack McLean, Scotch amateur, forged into a temporary tie for the lead with 72, two under par. Whitcombe went out in a par 36, and came home with a 36, two under. McLean went out in 35 and came back in 37.

Hector Thomson, British amateur champion, who broke the amateur record for the Wallace course in yesterday's second qualifying round, had a 40-36-76.

WETHERELL SCORES AT LONG BEACH NET

Lewis Wetherell had a day of respite from singles today before facing Verne Hughes tomorrow in the semi-finals of the Long Beach Open tennis tournament.

The black-haired Santa Ana youth, now a student at U. S. C., ousted Willis Anderson in yesterday's quarter-finals, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1. Hughes, a Long Beach boy, eliminated Billy Doeg in another match Wednesday. Wetherell and his partner, M. Gallagher, beat Imhoff and Bartlett in doubles, 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

Marjorie Lauderbach, Santa Ana's hope in the women's division, routed little Cecil Miner, 6-1, 6-1.

'CLIPPER' OFF FOR POST AT VILLANOVA

SANTA CLARA, June 25.—(UP)—Maurice J. (Clipper) Smith, for seven years head football coach at Santa Clara university, today was enroute to Villanova, Pa., where he has accepted an offer to become head football coach at Villanova.

Smith, one of the late Knute Rockne's most widely known protégés, joined Santa Clara in 1929, after starting his football coaching career at Gonzaga university.

TWO COAST NETMEN REMAIN IN TOURNEY

EVANSTON, Ill., June 25.—(UP)—Four seeded players, led by Ernest Sutter of Tulane, moved into quarter-finals of the National intercollegiate tennis championships today.

Sutter defeated John Law of Stanford, Vernon John, Southern California; Ben Day, Stanford, and George Stevens, Yale, all seeded, moved into the quarter-finals with him.

COVINA CINCHES PENNANT

Covina's Corsairs have clinched the first-half championship of the American Night Ball league, Earl Morrill shutout San Bernardino, 6-0, Tuesday night to bring "Granby" Wilson's club its first title. Riverside, only team to beat Covina this season, routed Arlington, 10-1. The standings:

AMERICAN NIGHT LEAGUE
W. L. Pct.
Covina 8 1 .889
Riverside 7 4 .636
San Bernardino 7 4 .636
Arlington 2 7 .222
Colton 1 9 .100

Friday's Games
Arlington at Covina; Colton at Riverside; San Bernardino, bye.

HARRY GRAYSON DID GOLF HURT ALLISON?

Not a few tennis critics attribute Wilmer Allison's failure in the Davis Cup matches against the Australians to his playing too much golf.

Similarly, Fred Perry's erratic play in the French hard court tournament and his defeat by Baron Gottfried von Cramm is said to be due to too much time on the links.

Allison and Mary K. Browne believe that golf keeps a tennis player on edge.

"The one acts as an antidote against the disease of the other," says Miss Browne, former national women's champion and Wightman cup player, who also is a star of the fairways. "You easily can become over-tennis or over-golfed. If you play both games, you will find yourself remaining keen for each."

Perry gives variety as the reason for his conversion to golf.

"In tennis you play the same strokes over and over again, whether you're performing in England, America, Australia, or Somaland," points out the world amateur champion. "In golf, no two strokes are exactly alike."

Maurice McLoughlin and Norman Brooks mixed tennis and golf. So do Sidney B. Wood, Jr., Helen Hull Jacobs, Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, Kay Stammers, and a long list of lesser lights who believe that golf improves tennis, and vice versa.

A similar argument, involving baseball and golf, raged for years, and in this regard it was significant that the royal and ancient game never hurt George Herman Ruth.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON
(Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon)
NO. 1 MAN—

The delegates think this New Deal national fair is being run by front man Mr. Farley. They see behind him a few shrewd political publicists like Charlie Michelson and the crowd of senators occupying the speakers' rostrum.

These men-on-the-defensive controlling factors in the mechanics of the convention all right, but the political inspiration behind the important moves seems to be furnished by nobody except that even more famous political strategist, President Franklin D. Roosevelt himself.

This was hinted in the Barkley keynote. Senator Barkley wrote much of it in his own copyrighted Ciceronian style. But the two most important sentences are supposed to have flown directly from the presidential pen:

"What we need is a new definition and a new interpretation of interstate commerce. Every article that is grown or mined or fabricated in one state and destined for another, by whatever means of transportation, is an object of interstate commerce."

That is almost the same language employed by the president in his horse-and-buggy talk. The only thing he left out were the horse and buggy and the idea that the way to attain this objective is through a constitutional amendment.

Note—The inference behind Mr. Roosevelt's words as spoken by Barkley is that he is content to wait and change the definition by appointing new supreme court members as soon as adherents of the present definition die.

SARCASM—
The unconstructed rebel, Senator Glass, is only half reconstructed yet. He announced publicly upon his arrival here that he would not serve on the platform committee, but he did not say why. What he told his friends, in no whisper, and out of the side of his mouth, was:

"I don't want to be on it, because the chairman is a Socialist." That is a harsh word for one Democrat to use toward another, even off the record, but the Virginian apparently believes that Senator Wagner's espousal of federal housing methods: social security and labor legislation entitle him to that classification. Wagner does not.

HEALTH TROUBLES AT AN END SINCE HE BEGAN GLY-CAS

Mr. Crawford's Former Strength and Energy Restored; Freed of Neuritis Pains; Entire System Toned After All Else Had Failed to Help Him.

"Gly-Cas cannot be compared with the ordinary medicines of today, for it gives DESIRED RESULTS," said Mr. E. W. Crawford, Tustin, Calif. (near Santa Ana), well known local gentleman who has lived here for the past thirty years.

"There is no need for sufferers experimenting with medicines today since Gly-Cas can be had so easily," continued Mr. Crawford. "I had suffered so much with those sharp, stabbing neuritis pains in my neck, back, hands and arms that at times I felt I could not stand it any longer. My body was filled with poisons, felt sluggish most of the time, lacked the pep and energy to get about without an effort. Of course I was miserable in this condition but in spite of all the medicines I tried I could not find anything to help me—everything seemed to lose its power when put up against my case, until I began Gly-Cas. It seemed to give me the health Nature intended."

"Gly-Cas cleansed my system as it had never been cleansed before," continued Mr. Crawford. "and today I am feeling like an entirely different person. Gly-Cas has been worth everything to me, yet I have just completed my third box. My former strength and energy has been restored, every ache and pain of neuritis has been driven from my body and I feel fine. I now have a good appetite, sleep fine and certainly do not hesitate to recommend Gly-Cas as the outstanding medicine of the modern day for ailments such as mine. The nice part about Gly-Cas besides the results it gives is that it does not gripe or nauseate as so many medicines do but does its work pleasantly as well as thoroughly. Gly-Cas simply contains the vitamins and minerals which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys should empty 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste."

So it goes—another case right here in this section where Gly-Cas accomplished the seemingly impossible.

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy & Co., 108 West Fourth Street, this city, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

SYMBOLISM—

Democratic arrangers are bearing down more heavily than usual on historic and religious themes. Obviously they are getting ready to match fervor with the Londonites on the two grounds.

"Happy Days," the old Roosevelt campaign song. They are trying to make "America" the theme song of the convention.

BY RAY TUCKER

PHILADELPHIA— Franklin D. Roosevelt may be defeated for reelection, but if he inhabits the White House for four more years it will be because of the blunders which his enemies have made.

Beneath and behind the Democrats' confident predictions of November victory lies the admission that the G.O.P. might work a miracle, with the help of a conglomeration of allies. The Democrats really fear, though they won't admit it, the quiet showmanship of Alf Landon.

They suspect that the Lemke-Ford-President movement may chip off ten states which would otherwise go to Roosevelt. They shudder at the thought that the Smith-Cohalan-Coiby revolt may swing millions of Democratic conservatives against the New Deal.

Although no responsible leader dignifies the Lemke candidacy or the Liberty League threat with formal comment, it has sent the high command into a state of jitter and jumpiness. Even to Chairman Farley it's obvious that there will be trouble in repulsing assaults from the right and from the left.

But plans are under way to nail the protest of the Liberty Leaguers against FDR's nomination. According to talk in hotel lobbies, ex-Justice Cohalan, who signed the Smith-Coiby telegram, is Farley's coughing legal adviser in New York. Key Democrats say they have legal and political evidence that Mr. Cohalan is closely associated with the Detroit priest.

To the ordinary reader that hookup may have little meaning. But in the minds of Democratic strategists it is convincing proof that Mr. Roosevelt's enemies will stop at nothing to defeat him.

Because of Cohalan's tieup with Liberty Leaguers and Coughlinites they see a union of radicals and Tories whose sole aim is to block FDR's reelection.

Dan Cohalan and Al Smith—may be FDR's chief assets, believe it or not.

These last-minute attacks on the President from the left and the right will have a distinct influence on the platform and on FDR's conduct during the campaign.

Whereas he intended to pursue a middle-of-the-road course, he will now seek the votes of the under-dogs. He will pitch his appeal to the man on relief and to the folks whose maximum wage is $25 a week. He will appeal to the masses against the classes, even more than before.

What has happened since the Democrats gathered here is the assembling of several threats which shake their confidence. There is the prospect of a sizable third party, the warning of a serious drought in the Middle West and the apparition of a smart Republican nominee in the person of Governor Landon.

It is doubtful if the horizon of a political campaign has ever been changed as suddenly as in the 1936 contest has been transformed in the past few weeks. That realization permeates every conference and phone call from Farley headquarters to the White House. The Democrats are scared—and fighting mad.

Two months ago the presidential campaign looked like a "push over" for President Roosevelt. After Cleveland, it looked like a fight. Now it looks like a horse race. Even top-notch Democrats admit that. But they're banking on opposition blunders.

THREE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Three persons were injured on West First street, near Harbor boulevard, last evening, as a car driven by Denver Hyder, 23, Route 4, Santa Ana, and a truck driven by F. B. Reilly, 35, Huntington Beach, collided along the smoke-filled roadway. Hyder received a broken jaw.

The Hyder car was completely demolished, according to reports to California highway patrol officers. Besides the drivers, Mrs. Kelly Qualls, Route 4, Santa Ana, also was injured. The smoke which obscured vision and caused the head-on collision was said to have come from a nearby grass fire. Mrs. Qualls and Hyder were at Santa Ana Valley hospital today.

BREAKFASTERS ENJOY MUSIC, DANCE PROGRAM

With interest mounting higher each week in the Santa Ana Breakfast club, members of the organization met this morning in James' cafe for another session of fun and nonsense, featured by musical and dancing numbers.

The music was provided by George Foy and members of his orchestra, who played collectively and performed individually. The dances were staged by the versatile performer, Floyd Stewart, who is a professional magician and entertainer and who has charge of the Breakfast club programs.

President Edward W. Cochems presided at the meeting, and introduced Eugene Kahen, old-time member of the Breakfast club, who came down from Los Angeles just to attend the meeting today. He spoke briefly on past activities of the Breakfast club, including the benefit program which raised money for feeding school children here during summer vacations.

Ted Cook was taken in as a new member of the club today. Raymond Ramon, popular pianist and instructor, was made an honorary member of the club, and in the future will act as club pianist and music leader.

Police News

L. F. Annis, 48, Long Beach second-hand furniture dealer, who took the place of Irving H. Rowe, 35, clerk, of 1203 South Main, Santa Ana, in county jail when Rowe accused Annis of taking advantage of his "generosity," pleaded not guilty today before Justice Kenneth Morrison and trial date was set for July 29. Rowe says Annis disposed of most of Rowe's money while Rowe was in jail for disturbing the peace, and then sent him an expense account bill which "framed him."

Case against Harry Kingsley, Riverside, involving issuance of a $10 fictitious check to W. H. James of James cafe, Santa Ana, was dismissed by Justice Kenneth Morrison today on the grounds the bill had been outlawed by the statute of limitations. The check was issued September 12, 1932. Kingsley said he would make up the check later, anyhow. He is wanted by San Luis Obispo officers, it was reported, on a similar charge.

At request of the district attorney, the preliminary hearing for Adam Sepulveda, 32, Corona man held on negligent homicide charges following death of his companion, Francisco Gonzales, in an automobile accident June 15, was continued until July 29, 9 a. m., in Santa Ana justice court today. The district attorney wants more time to investigate the case.

George Taylor, 29, today began a 100-day term in county jail following conviction of handling liquor without proper tax license. He lives at San Ysaac.

Three Mexicans were booked at county jail today to begin serving four months each after conviction of immigration law violations. The men were Antonio Martinez, 21, Tucson; Ricardo Meza, 35, Mexicali; and Manuel Hernandez, 34, Brawley.

Wilma Potter, 1039 West Chestnut, told city police one license plate was stolen from her car, parked last night at Municipal Bowl. The number was 6-T-3704.

Bert Brown, 51, 6310 Seashore, Newport Beach, was arrested at Sixth and Main streets early this morning and charged with drunk driving. Doctor's medical examination report said he was "very markedly intoxicated."

Court Notes

William C. Schouler, 32, of Huntington Beach, is heir to the $260 estate left by his late wife, Susie C. Schouler, who died March 24, leaving property in Los Angeles county, according to a petition filed today in superior court, seeking letters of administration for the husband.

His wife deserted him, took their two children and left with another man, Paul R. Womack, charged today in a suit for divorce, filed in superior court against Mrs. Ruth Womack. She later abandoned the children, he claims. In asking their custody, The Womacks married in Santa Ana in 1924 and separated at Artesia June 3, 1934.

Separate maintenance and an award of $75 per month was asked today in a suit filed in superior court by Mrs. Lois Davis against Wayne Davis, whom she charges with cruelty. They married in Los Angeles October 31, 1935, and separated June 2, this year.

L. T. Bradford, as trustee of certain Orange county real estate, yesterday brought suit in superior court against William M. Isbister.

JIMMY FIDLER in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD.—As amusing as side shows are the antics of the "professional" autograph hunters. Many really are professionals; they collect autographs and sell them, and in case you think that an unprofitable business, you will be astonished to learn that the up-and-at-em pros make as much as $100 a month working spare time. Their method is simple; they fill books with autographs and sell them to tourists. There is great demand for them. A clever professional autograph hunter can mingle with a crowd surrounding a star and obtain five or six signings before the star awakens to the racket.

These professionals work hand-in-hand. Latest development of their craft is a sign language. Obviously, if all the hunters congregated in a group, stars might easily dodge them. So they spread themselves about fashion, and when screen notables barge into sight the hunters signal each other and all come a-running. I have discovered the meanings of some of their symbols; the "signs" they identify approaching prey. Two or three steps "duck walk" means, "Here comes Charlie Chaplin." The two hands outlining a voluptuous figure indicate Mae West. The mouth opened the widest, Joe E. Brown. Vigorous scratching of the head, Stan Laurel. Hands forming a large stomach, Oliver "Babe" Hardy. Hands placed to the side of the ears and flapped, Clark Gable. Position of touching one knee to the ground, Al Jolson.

Offhand you may wonder why all the secrecy; why one hunter does not scream to the others, "Here comes Harlow!" The answer is simply that many stars like before autograph fiends. Any outcry that would herald the presence of the pack would set the star in full chase. Everything must be done quietly; the star must be surrounded before he realizes he has been trapped. Thus the sign language, which is as quickly understood among the professional hunters as were similar symbols among Indian tribes.

Funnier newspaper mixup involved the Oscar Bradleys a few years ago. Bradley, musical director of "Whoopie" and other big New York and London stage productions, awakened one morning to discover that newspapers had announced he would be married to a chorus beauty. It was an innocent case of mistaken identity, and the periodicals which had published the statements hastened to make amends. Reporters called on the Bradleys and next day the newspapers which had printed the original mistaken story carried corrections. But the height of comedy was touched when one daily in its "correction" story added: "The Bradleys have been married 13 years; they have a son 15 years old."

COLORADO GREET GOV. ALF M. LANDON

DENVER, Colo., June 25.—(UP)—Alf M. Landon, governor of Kansas and Republican presidential nominee, arrived in Colorado today and was given a rousing welcome.

Republican and Democratic party leaders and state officials rubbed shoulders as they dropped partisan lines in giving the Landon party a true Colorado greeting.

After a brief press conference, during which he declined to discuss issues of the coming campaign, Gov. Landon said, "The matters will be discussed when the campaign starts. I have come to Colorado for a vacation and I am going to spend it in a flannel shirt and high boots."

the contrary, unfair business practices for the suppression of competition were indulged by large combinations without the slightest interference or restraint.

It is at once amusing and shocking to witness this pretended devotion to sacred causes by the delegates to the convention while they paraded and danced to the thrilling strains and inspiring sentiments of the Republican campaign song: "Oh, Suzzanna, Don't You Cry."

Candidates Compared

Your chairman is prompted by consideration of propriety to bring this speech to a close.

We do not fear any comparison which the opposition may make. We meet their challenge in the open, face to face. Democrats during the present administration have made a record of great things accomplished. We are not discouraged by the obstacles which have been thrown in the way. Our opponents, paralyzed with fear, did not even attempt to overcome the results of their own mistakes and follies when the collapse of 1929 occurred. Key-noteur Steiwer complains that Mr. Roosevelt, after his election, did not advise President Hoover and cooperate with him in the hour of the latter's extremity and failure.

Key-noteur Steiwer denounces our leader as a President without conscience. President Roosevelt may not possess the kind of a conscience with which Republicans are familiar in their conduct of public affairs. He has, however, a conscience which takes note of the distress and helplessness of the feeble and the despairing.

That is not my characterization. It is the statement of the candidate's closest friend, made in an effort to prove that in making demands to the Committee on Platform at Cleveland for the insertion of certain planks and then in yielding those planks his candidate had suddenly demonstrated capacity for leadership.

Opponents some time denounce President Roosevelt as a dictator. No President has demonstrated a kinder nature or more generous spirit than President Roosevelt. He has maintained amicable relations with every department of the government. If he has been given extraordinary authority by law, it is because the Congress trusted him and regarded him as the best agent it could find.

On our record of pledges honestly redeemed, of services faithfully performed and under as gallant a leadership as ever raised a political banner, we advance to the battle of 1936 confident that the voters of the nation will not turn back to the defeated and disheartened leadership which abandoned them when the need for service, loyalty and courage was the greatest ever known.

White Quoted On Landon

Mr. William Allen White, sponsor of the Republican candidate, Gov. Landon, characterized his favorite in the article already quoted from "The Dumb, smiling, enigma who has America guessing."

That is not my characterization. It is the statement of the candidate's closest friend, made in an effort to prove that in making demands to the Committee on Platform at Cleveland for the insertion of certain planks and then in yielding those planks his candidate had suddenly demonstrated capacity for leadership.

Opponents some time denounce President Roosevelt as a dictator. No President has demonstrated a kinder nature or more generous spirit than President Roosevelt. He has maintained amicable relations with every department of the government. If he has been given extraordinary authority by law, it is because the Congress trusted him and regarded him as the best agent it could find.

On our record of pledges honestly redeemed, of services faithfully performed and under as gallant a leadership as ever raised a political banner, we advance to the battle of 1936 confident that the voters of the nation will not turn back to the defeated and disheartened leadership which abandoned them when the need for service, loyalty and courage was the greatest ever known.

Lemke Polls Large Vote In Primaries

BISMARCK, N. D., June 25.—(UP)—Earl returns today showed William Lemke, Union party candidate for president, received a large "complimentary" vote as the Republican candidate for re-nomination to congress in Wednesday's primary election.

Lemke was unopposed in the election which his friends said would reveal the popularity of his presidential candidacy in the wheat belt section.

The first 29 precincts to report gave Lemke 1,342 votes.

Men Not Injured; FOUND IN BASTILE

In a telegram from Bakersfield to Santa Ana, Clarence Vosburgh, 1309 West Eighth, Santa Ana, was "just having a little joke to scare the home folks" when he allegedly reported to his wife here that he had been in an automobile accident. It was revealed today, but Los Angeles police weren't joking at all in a teletype message to local police. They reported two men were in their jail, one charged with drunk driving, the other with being drunk.

After diligent search by local officers, following the "accident" report to Santa Ana from Bakersfield and after numerous teletype message exchanges between here and there and yonder, it was learned the two men in Los Angeles jail were Vosburgh and his

French Sailors Return To Ships

MARSEILLE, France, June 25.—(UP)—Red flags were lowered from the masts of merchant vessels in Marseilles and other harbors today following acceptance by owners of sailors' demands for improved working conditions.

Government officials worked to persuade the sailors to return to their posts and end the tieup which has paralyzed shipping here several days. Many foreign ships were unable to sail on schedule.

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER ASKS AID OF PUBLIC

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, today started building his defense against epidemics during the summer danger period, by calling upon the public for co-operation in prompt reporting of communicable diseases, and calling attention to the law requiring such reports.

DR. CROAL
DENTIST
Phone 2885 for Appointment
Located J. C. Penney Bldg.

Where a physician is called, the responsibility for reports rests upon him, but where no physician is in attendance upon the case, the head of the household bears legal responsibility for reporting it to the health authorities, Dr. Sutherland pointed out.

"With the closing of school, we are again faced with the difficulty of having cases of communicable disease reported to this office as promptly as they should be," said the health officer, calling attention to the legal requirements.

"A call from anyone having knowledge concerning the presence of a communicable disease in the neighborhood will be investigated by the health department," he stated.

"The county health department can be reached by telephoning Santa Ana 3000, Fullerton 616, or Anaheim 2151, or by calling the police departments in other districts, from where the call will be relayed to the health department."

"We must have the co-operation of the general public if we are to keep the community free of contagion and be assured that the schools will be able to open next fall free of communicable disease which would otherwise hamper attendance."

Witnesses Shooed From Inquiry

SETTLE CITRUS CASE IN COURT AT FULLERTON

A case just disposed of in the justice court of Fullerton and interesting to citrus growers and packers is that of The People vs. C. R. Montgomery and the Quality Fruit company. The defendants were charged with packing oranges contrary to Sec. 781 and 786 of the General Laws of 1935. That law provides that oranges grown south of the Tehachapi Mountains must have a sugar content of eight parts to one part of acid, while those grown north of said mountains are required to show only six and one-half parts of soluble solids (sugar) to one part of acid.

The defendants were charged with packing 33 boxes of these "southern" oranges which were shown by the Brix scale hydrometer to contain less than eight parts solids to one part acid.

It appears that the tests made in the packing house by their own appliances showed an average of more than the required 8 to 1, but that samples taken by Inspector Starbuck of the agricultural department show a deficiency of a fraction of a point of sugar.

Testimony was introduced to show Mr. Montgomery owned the oranges and the Quality Fruit company packed them. It was contended that the Fruit company's hydrometer was checked by the inspector and given his "O. K." and the company therefore relied upon it. It appeared also that both defendants made reasonable efforts to comply with the rulings of the inspector and treated as condemned so much of the fruit as he ruled did not meet his test. As a result 33 boxes of oranges were "unpacked" and disposed of as a by-product.

Arguments Given

It was argued by the prosecution that because so much of the fruit was actually "packed," regardless of what disposition was thereafter made of the fruit, the defendants should be convicted under the law, and that the question of tests made by the defendants, or the intention to comply with the inspector's rulings should have no consideration by the jury.

It is understood that in all cases prosecuted under said law heretofore, defendants have pleaded guilty or have been convicted after trial, and that the finding of defendants not guilty in this case is without precedent in Orange county.

In his argument to the jury Carl M. Helm, defendant's attorney said that in all his experience he had never heard of the prosecution of defendants who acted in good faith as the district attorney admitted these defendants did, nor was there ever a criminal case prosecuted wherein the intention of the defendant did not enter the consideration.

Water Board Anticipates Federal Suit Settlement

EXPRESS HOPE FOR AGREEMENT ON SITUATION

BY KENNETH ADAMS

After concerted and continuous efforts extending over a period of more than a year, directors of the Orange County Water District looked forward to anticipated quick settlement of the long-drawn suit filed by James Irvine, landed Orange county rancher, against water interests in the upper Santa Ana river.

The reason local directors of the water district felt that the suit, virtually affecting the water interests of Orange county, will be settled in a friendly manner in the near future is because of reports which came to this county from the upper river interests, expressing belief that the situation has reached a stage where compromise looms close at hand.

Proposition is Made

Unannounced before this time, at the first of this month the water board here sent to the upper river interests the original proposition through which compromise of the legal battle is anticipated.

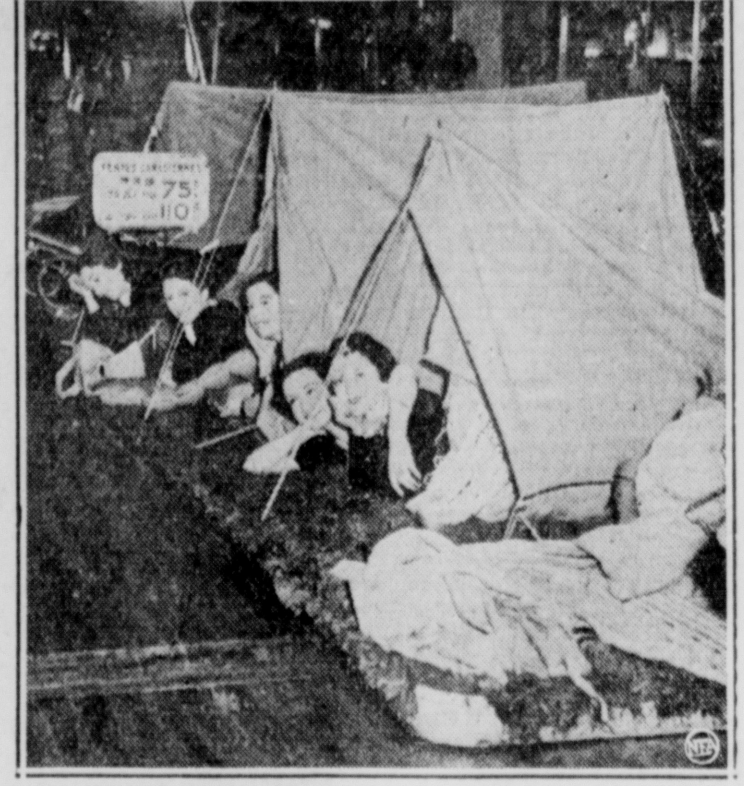

Details of Orange county's proposition to the upper river interests were not immediately available, and may not be announced until it is ascertained whether or not the current compromise negotiations are successful. Directors of the local water board, however, expressed considerable optimism over the expected outcome of the negotiations.

Irvine filed the suit against the upper river interests in federal court some time ago, seeking to restrain them from spreading river water which otherwise would have come down here to replenish the Orange county water basin. The new activities are directed toward securing settlement of the suit on a basis agreeable to both Orange county and the upper river concerns.

Members of the local water board will meet on July 8, at which time it is expected that more definite action on the proposals will be taken.

STRIKERS TAKE IT EASY

Of the French stay-in strikers, the most fortunate were the clerks who spent their days and nights in the home furnishing departments of stores—they at least had beds to rest on. Some of the pretty clerks in a Paris department store, however, fared well, too. They are seen making themselves at home in the sports goods section's display of Canadian tents.

CROP FINANCE PLAN POPULAR WITH FARMERS

Farmers of California definitely have placed their stamp of approval upon the system of short-term crop and livestock financing as it is being extended by 25 production credit associations in the state. This is the opinion of J. J. Denni, director of the Orange County Production Credit Association, 622 North Main street, Santa Ana, upon his return from a district conference of directors and secretary-treasurers of the seven Southern California associations held at Laguna Beach last Friday and Saturday.

Director Denni reported that the two-day meeting was devoted to the possibilities of even further improving the service to farmer-borrowers. The production credit system is one of the units of the Farm Credit Administration, the sole function of which is to furnish all types of agricultural credit on a sound basis and upon terms which are formulated to meet the specific requirements of the borrowers.

According to Mr. Denni, the reports received from all sections represented at the meeting show that more and more farmers are becoming borrower-members of these cooperative lending agencies although the system has been in operation less than three years. There have been 4,750 loans closed so far this season in the state. There are about 5600 members in California who have invested $790,000 in stock in their various associations.

EVILS OF "SPOILS" SYSTEM IN TEACHING SYSTEM DEBATED

Evils of a "spoils" system by which teachers may be shunted from their jobs at the pleasure of the newest school board were pitted against those which permit, through the teachers tenure law, smug security with loss of efficiency in teaching, as the Forum for Political and Economic Education met last night at Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, to hear a debate on the teachers tenure law, passed in California two years ago.

H. G. Nelson, principal at Julia Lathrop Junior High school, argued the need for teachers tenure as protection against the tampering of politicians with the all-important school system. Just as vigorously, W. Maxwell Burke, local attorney, former teacher and former school board member, argued that the teachers tenure law is fallacious in that it largely tends to stop competition in teaching jobs, thus keeping out of the school system some of the best teachers and allowing some less capable, who may have obtained jobs because they applied and were accepted before the others, to retain their jobs indefinitely.

"Civil Service"

By Nelson, teachers tenure was described as a "civil service" proposition, allowing efficient teachers to continue in their jobs, with removal only for cause, established in court, and leaving them free from the fear of becoming footballs on the political gridiron. Both major political parties have come to approve teachers tenure in connection with their platforms. Landon already having indicated he favors giving civil service to the highest and lowest in the field of employment, he said.

"The best work can be done by those with a sense of certainty for the future," Nelson believed. He favored comforts for loyal teachers in their old age. "There is something about the teaching profession that does not permit a teacher to slow down and lose efficiency because of security," he quoted. "In 12 recent cases handled by the courts under the teachers tenure law, seven were won by boards of education and five by the teachers. There are 30,000 teachers in the state, approximately half, working under the law."

Trustees Have Right

"The school trustees have a right to discharge teachers for cause and yet, without the law, in less than 5 per cent of the discharges recorded are the causes given. The psychology of unwarranted discharges is usually tragedy in the lives of those discharged. From years of experience in teaching, I can easily see the advantages of tenure and disadvantages of a system which permits average laymen to occupy trustee jobs with power to hire and fire, at their will, those trained for years, perhaps, in school direction."

Burke said he was one of those who worked in connection with passage of the teacher's tenure law "and the one adopted is not at all the one the school trustees

Wechsler, in trooper's uniform, still patrols Long Island roads as before his marriage.

POTATO MEN TO PRESENT FIELD DAY PROGRAM

Potato growers from all sections of Southern California plan to attend the Potato Growers' Field Day at the McSweeney Ranch, Temecula, June 27, beginning at 10 a. m., according to Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor.

A program of interest has been prepared. In the morning, growers will visit the potato fields where they will have an opportunity to see plots of locally grown White Rose seed compared with White Rose seed secured this year from Montana and Wisconsin seed secured from Minnesota. There is one plot here fertilized with ammonia gas which is put in the irrigation water. This will be compared with fields where the fertilizer has been drilled in. Cultural practices being followed will also be of interest to growers.

Following lunch an interesting speaking program will be heard. Professor P. A. Miller, University of California at Los Angeles, will discuss "Bacterial Soft Rot in Potatoes." Mr. Charles H. Jandt, district sales manager, National Fruit and Vegetable Exchange, will discuss "Reasons for the Present Market Situation and the Future Outlook." Mr. F. H. Ernst, Agricultural Extension Service, will give "A Summary of Fertilizer Experiments" and will also discuss "Insecticides."

Mr. John McSweeney will be present to take the growers to the various plots and following lunch will discuss his experiences with fertilizers.

Neighbors and other friends of Mrs. George W. Bond sent in quantities of lovely flowers as decorations for a tea at which she entertained yesterday afternoon in her home at 527 East Myrtle street, in compliment to her niece, Mrs. Fred Brouger of Eugene, Ore.

Since arrival a few weeks ago, Mrs. Brouger has been renewing acquaintances with former friends, many of whom were present yesterday for the pleasant hospitality Mrs. Brouger expects to extend her visit two or three weeks longer. The hostess had arranged an informal program to which her small granddaughter, Beverly Bond, contributed piano solos, "The Dance of the Wooden Shoes" and "The Sleepy Todd" and a violin solo, "The Cradle Song" accompanied by Miss Florence Hulseik. Beverly and her mother, Mrs. Clarence Bond, played piano duets, "Red Rose Waltz," "The Doll's Polka" and "The Alexander March."

Mrs. Harry W. Worley, who is on vacation from her missionary duties in China, gave a talk on her experiences in the Orient. She displayed a number of pictures.

Mrs. Brouger and Mrs. Clarence Bond poured tea, presiding at a table spread with an Irish lace cloth centered with roses and lighted with green tapers. Gladioluses, stocks and roses were arranged throughout rooms of the home. Mrs. Ralph Brouger and Mrs. Forrest Griffith assisted in serving.

Sharing the hospitality of the Bond home were Mesdames Fred Brouger, Clarence Bond, Rose Hulseik, C. F. Jackson, Justus Birtcher, Costas Leamer, W. E. Foote, Ralph Brouger, Virgil Paxton, Julia Hulseik, C. H. Lane, I. H. Pennington, Albert Husted, H. W. Goodwin, C. T. Foster, George Wiltsie, Harry W. Worley, W. J. Stauffer, Forrest Griffith, Miss Rachel Foster, Miss Ella McClurkin, Miss Florence Hulseik, Miss Mabel Whitling and Beverly and Master George Bond Jr.

Patriotic Motif

With the Fourth of July so close at hand, Mrs. John J. Vernon observed a patriotic motif in decorations for the Chat and Sew club event at which she entertained last night in her home, 2020 Santiago avenue. Snapdragons, roses, gladioluses and cornucopias were arranged throughout the rooms.

Little Miss Betty Louise Vernon aided her mother in serving refreshments at the close of an evening of sewing.

Guests were Mesdames Oliver Wickersheim, Wilbur Woods, Carl Pieter, Dale Griggs, Ervin Prevert, J. T. McNelis, Earl Smith, Edwin Wescott, T. R. Nall, Charles E. Wood, Enslay Campbell, V. O. Estes and Miss Maude Sison.

Mrs. Wickersheim will be hostess at the next meeting.

Santa Anan is Wedded
At Quiet Service
In Honolulu

Announcement has been made of the recent marriage in Honolulu of a former Santa Anan, William Frederick Elliott, son of Mrs. Emmett Elliott, 321 Riverside avenue, and the late Emmett Foster Elliott of Clarksburg, West Virginia, to Juanita Lorraine Lundy, formerly of Los Angeles but now of Honolulu.

There was a very quiet late spring wedding with a touch of the military, for it occurred in the home at Fort Ruger of Sergeant Jack Nelson, with the army chaplain, the Rev. James de LaVergne, reading the service. They had been associates of Frederick Elliott, who had enlisted in the winter of 1934, with the 15th C. A. for service in the islands.

He left the service this spring to return to his own profession of architecture, and is associated in Honolulu with Ray Morris, secretary of the National Architectural association. The young couple will make their home in Honolulu.

Hostess Honors Sister
By Entertaining at Gift Shower

Close friends of Mrs. Chester R. Siegel were called together for an intimate delightful party of recent date, planned by Mrs. Ruth Sawyer in her home, 601 South Sycamore street, as a layette shower for her sister, Mrs. Siegel.

Dahlias, snapdragons, tall stalks of gladiolus blossoms and similar summer flowers of rich hues were mingled in the effective decorations of the home, where the hostess introduced a series of games at the evening's entertainment. Prizes in these were won by Mrs. Siegel herself, Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim and Mrs. Harold Kyle.

The showery nature of the evening was suggested by a gaily be-ribboned parasol, garlanded with pink and blue bows, and overflowing with tissue wrapped packages whose ribbons repeated the same colors. After the layette gifts had all been examined and admired, Mrs. Sawyer served refreshments to complete her hospitality.

Her guests included with Mrs. Siegel, their mother, Mrs. E. F. Wickersheim, Mrs. Bruce Hays, Miss Bernice Hays, Mrs. O. E. Dunkin, Mrs. J. J. Williams, Miss Bebe Adams, Mrs. Harold Kyle, Santa Ana; Miss Leo Gish and Little daughter Darlene, Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim, Mrs. Roy Cavett, Orange; Mrs. Clarence Eldredge, Laguna Beach; Mrs. C. E. Mrs. J. H. Bray and Mrs. William Mize, president and president-elect of Native Daughters of the Golden West, Mrs. W. A. West and Mrs. Paul Elzold returned Wednesday morning from Stockton, where they attended the Native Daughters' convention which was in session last week.

They were joined for the conclave by a former Santa Anan, Mrs. Marion Crum, whose home is near Stockton. They were present for various sessions, including the meeting at which Florence Boyle of San Francisco was elected grand president. Plans were made to hold the 1937 convention at Placerville.

At the close of the convention, the local residents spent some time in San Francisco as guests in the home of a former Santa Anan, Mrs. William Schoenrock.

For Song Recital
Of Baritone

Of outstanding beauty and high professional standing was the song recital held Tuesday evening in the Clarence Gustlin studio, featuring Clarence Kurtz, baritone, of El Modena, one of Orange county's most gifted artists.

Assisted at the piano by Ada Turner Kurtz, the artist presented songs of widely varied nature ranging from the classical compositions of Scarlatti, Tchaikowsky and Von Flieles to the lighter and more sparkling compositions of Jacques Wolfe and Geoffrey O'Hara.

Instrumental numbers offered variety for Clarence Gustlin, as host, consented to add several piano solos including that favorite arrangement for the piano by Liszt of Schubert's "Hark! Hark! The Lark," and Russell Rowland favored with Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in B Major."

Perhaps the outstanding feature on Mr. Kurtz's program was the Alexander von Flieles song cycle, "Die Eiland," an unusually beautiful group treating of the love of a monk for a nun. This followed his opening group, "Pur Dicit," an Italian classic; "Bright Phoebus," an English hunting song, and "La Violette" by Scarlatti.

The third group was "Le Mariage des Roses" (Cesar Franck); "Le Miroir" (Ferrari) and "The Pilgrim's Song" (Tchaikowsky). For his final group, the artist chose songs in lighter vein, "The Wreck of the Julia Plante" by Geoffrey O'Hara; "The Ould Green Shawl" by Haynes; "The Green-Eyed Dragon" by Wolseyley Charles and "Sailorman" by Jacques Wolfe.

Guests lingered to discuss the program, congratulate the artist, and enjoy punch and wafers, served informally.

Among music lovers present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rowland, were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden and Mrs. Carl Seaman of Yorba Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Halstead McCormack, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Getting, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Armstrong of El Modena; Lorene Cuddy Graves; Mrs. P. H. Norton, Mrs. Alice Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Plippen of El Modena; Mrs. Mary E. Wyman, Miss Gertrude Wyman, and many others.

Kitchen Shower Comes
As Compliment to Recent Bride

Kitchen articles in wide variety were presented to Mrs. Rudy Holeman (Doris Hossfeld) last night at a surprise bridal shower given by Mrs. Joseph Catherine Jr., who entertained in her home at 1919 Rousseau avenue.

The evening was spent in playing hearts in which Miss Marie Stele and Miss Fern Anderson won prizes for scoring high and low. Mrs. Holeman was presented with an array of prettily-wrapped gifts. It was the honoree's privilege to cut a decorated wedding cake which was topped with bride and bridegroom figures. Served with the confection were jello topped with whipped cream, and other dainties.

Present with the hostess and the honoree were Mrs. Holeman's mother, Mrs. Charles Hossfeld, and Mrs. Jac de Groot, Mrs. Carlfield, Mrs. Harman Howard, Mrs. Myrtle Catherine, Miss Marie Stele, Miss Grace Pickens, Miss Fern Anderson, Mrs. Aliso.

These family reunions bring many such happy anniversaries, and just a year ago when a similar affair was staged, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Plumb were the honor guests in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Plumb was Miss Frankie Snow.

The Plumbs and their sons were among the guests at the latest event, as were Mr. and Mrs. Cood Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow and their two sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Patton and family of Orange and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Callens and family of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. W. Denver Doll, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow and daughter Beverly, and other guests from Camarillo, Van Nuys, San Fernando Valley and other points to the number of 65 or more.

Informal Dance

Balloon serpentine and other special numbers added to the interest in an informal dance staged Tuesday night in Veterans hall by the Traffic department of the local telephone company office.

Seventy-five couples took part in the affair, for which music was furnished by Freddie Pimental's orchestra. Punch was served by Mrs. Neal Welch and Mrs. Leonard Welch. Mr. Meister assisted by taking tickets at the door. Mrs. Helen Planchon and Miss Madeline Payne were in charge of general arrangements for the dance.

Wedding Vows
Exchanged In Home Ceremony

It was with deep interest that friends of Dorothy Anton Grundy of 325 East Pine street, saw her departure this morning for San Diego, where her wedding to Edward E. Parker also of this city, was scheduled for 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Grundy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Anton of West Philadelphia, Penna., but has lived in Santa Ana for the past dozen years, following her profession as dental hygienist for various of the city dentists. Mr. Parker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Parker of San Diego and is with the government agricultural survey, with his headquarters in this city.

The afternoon wedding of the young couple was to take place in the home of Mr. Parker's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. G. McKoon, 5432 Wilshire Drive, San Diego, where Mrs. McKoon arranged a charming floral setting for the rites. Flower colors were chosen with a view to the bride's brunet loveliness, and her choice of daffodil yellow lace as her wedding gown. With this she was to wear a yellow taffeta picture hat with other costume details in the same sunny hue, completed with a gardenia corsage.

Miss Cox as her maid of honor, chose pale blue net over taffeta, with a picture hat of blue lace and a flower corsage.

Mr. Parker had two attendants, his brother, Walter Parker, and Harold Noe, both of this city. Vows were to be spoken before the Rev. W. M. Hamilton, pastor of San Diego First Presbyterian church.

Wedding guests included several friends from this city who motored down to join relatives and friends from San Diego. Mrs. McKoon had arranged for the serving of bride's cake with light refreshments.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Parker are to spend their honeymoon at Coronado. For departure, the bride chose a white sharkskin suit with dress accessories in pink.

Returning to Santa Ana after the next two weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Parker will be at home to their friends in the apartment at 325 East Pine street, which the bride has been sharing with Miss Cox.

Pleasant Family Circle
Brought Together
In Reunion

Family ties were drawn a little closer by the gala reunion Sunday of members of the Snow and Adams families and their relatives in turn, who gathered from various Southland points to join in a happy day's outing in Griffith Park.

Ferndale, the spot chosen for the reunion, lived up to its name with its luxuriant growth of great fern fronds amidst which the picnickers spent the day. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pettit of Oxnard were quite the center of family interest, for they were silver wedding celebrants, and in honor of the event received a handsome silver tray from the other guests.

Mrs. Pettit was Miss Elvita Snow, when she was a bride 25 years ago, went from a Santa Ana girlhood in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Snow. This is now the A. J. Cruickshank home, Los Alisos.

These family reunions bring many such happy anniversaries, and just a year ago when a similar affair was staged, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Plumb were the honor guests in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Plumb was Miss Frankie Snow.

The Plumbs and their sons were among the guests at the latest event, as were Mr. and Mrs. Cood Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow and their two sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Denver Doll, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams of Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snow, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow and daughter Beverly, and other guests from Camarillo, Van Nuys, San Fernando Valley and other points to the number of 65 or more.

Steak Bake Precedes
Visiting Couple's
Departure

Proceeding their departure this week for San Francisco after a short visit in the Southland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zimmerman, of Davenport, Ia., were complimented at a steak bake in Anaheim park, where a family group assembled.

The visitors related incidents of the very interesting trip which they have been making since they left Iowa so recently. They are traveling by train, taking a California-Pacific Northwest tour which leads them to many scenic spots, it was pointed out.

In the group with the honored couple were Mrs. Zimmerman's mother, Mrs. Mina Zimmerman, 617 West Tenth street; Mrs. and Mrs. Albert Sanford, Mrs. Louella Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Earl, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stepp, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nelson and son, Jack, Miss Charlotte Morgan, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Zimmerman and daughters, Vivian and Mary Willa, Orange.

The following day brought a chicken dinner in the home of Mr. Zimmerman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nelson, 503 Normandy place, with the visitors as honored guests. Completing the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Zimmerman, Miss Charlotte Morgan, Jack Nelson, Mrs. Mina Zimmerman. Other relatives and friends joined the group for the remainder of the pleasant evening.

The Iowa residents enjoyed trips to the beaches and were impressed with the beauty of Laguna Beach and other coast spots.

Visitors From Oregon
Inspire Party in
Vogt Home

Southland visitors from Monmouth, Ore., the Misses Esther and Emma Schrader, inspired a pretty affair given Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Vogt, 706 East Sixth street. Hostesses were Mrs. Vogt, her daughter, Miss Esther Vogt and Mrs. A. L. Kubitz.

The Misses Schrader, who are teachers in Beaverton, Ore., schools, arrived Friday night in company with Mr. and Mrs. Kubitz, who had been on a trip to Oregon and Washington. The visitors are nieces of Mrs. Kubitz and of Mrs. Vogt.

Tuesday night's hostess trio introduced monopoly as the game of the evening. Miss Esther Schrader, who scored high, received a box of powder puffs; Miss Venna Goodwin, second high, a floral print; Mrs. James Newman, low, was consoling with a bank.

Pastel-hued flowers and tapers were combined to form effective centerpieces at tables where fruit dessert and cream-filled chocolate cakes were served at the evening's close.

Guests of the three hostesses, in addition to the two visitors were the Misses Ruth Beamer, Katherine Budd, Thelma Glascock, Venna Goodwin, Marie McGinnis, Betty Reed, Charlotte Stewart, Florence Ulrich, Florence Warner, Helen Wieseman, Edna Ebersole, Marjorie Jacques and Mrs. James Newman, all of this community; and Miss Garnett Starr of Iowa.

Visit With Family

It has been very pleasant this week for Principal H. G. Nelson of Julia Lathrop Junior High school, and Mrs. Nelson, 525 South Ross street, and for Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Getting, 2405 Valencia street, to have with them their son and daughter, the Baxter Gettings, for a short visit before the young people enter upon their summer school courses at U. S. C.

Mrs. Baxter Getting was Miss Corinne Nelson, and she and her husband are both continuing their teaching careers. Mr. Getting taught the last semester in Santa Barbara High school but will resume his duties in the English and speech department of Westwood High school (Lassen county) in the autumn. Mrs. Getting will be a member of the same faculty, teaching music and art.

They were in Los Angeles today making arrangements for suitable living quarters while they attend summer school. Mr. Getting will work for his Doctor's degree last summer, and will also work for administrative credentials. Mrs. Getting's studies will be in preparation for a Master's degree in education.

Hostess Plans
Luncheon With
Contract Play

Quite charming in its suggestion of summer, the Lester Carden home at 721 South Ross street, was garlanded with flowers yesterday for an intimate small bridge luncheon at which Mrs. Carden received some sixteen of her close friends.

Flowers which added so greatly to enjoyment of these present, have been sent in abundance by various guests including Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth and Mrs. R. C. Holmes. Those reserved for table decorations were fragrant white petunias which the hostess arranged effectively in silver bowl.

For the contract session which succeeded the luncheon hour, Mrs. Carden awarded four prizes, one to the holder of high score at each of the tables in play.

It was gratifying to her that one of these should fall to the lot of Mrs. Holmes, for the party might well have served as a summer farewell to her, as she and her young daughter Jane, are leaving at the end of the week for a visit in their former home, Lorain, Ohio. Immediately following their return the Holmes family will depart for the north with anticipations of a summer cruise to Alaska.

White Shrine Circle

Luncheon in Rossmore cafe preceded a session of cards enjoyed in Masonic temple yesterday afternoon by members of White Shrine Circle. The hostesses, Mesdames Ada Sutherland, Emily Northrop, Lillian Ellis and Ella Strassberger observed a yellow and white decorative theme.

Mrs. Maud Wiley, president, conducted a short business meeting to precede card play. Miss Henrietta Bohling, Mrs. Wiley and Mrs. Gladys Goodrich won prizes for scoring first, second high and low in auction bridge.

THE TINYMITES

Inside the palace, Duncy said, "I'd like to live right here instead of any place I know of. I hope we can stay a while."

"Why, we will do most anything that's possible, to please the king. We'd like it very much, if we could meet him, afterward."

"Don't worry," cried the jester. "You are going to find a lot to do and it will take you quite some time. I have some plans in mind."

"Right now, just roam around a bit. The palace is your home and bit."

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY 1824, South America had gained almost complete independence from Spain, and new governments were set up. But everywhere, bloodshed continued when factions arose and plotted against one another for control of their new republics.

Into such civil strife came Bernardino Rivadavia, who had represented the South American revolutionists as their minister to various nations, while the great Simon Bolivar and San Martin had fought to liberate the people from Spanish rule. In 1826, Rivadavia was elected president of Argentina. While two political parties sought control, he tried to organize his people into a peaceful and secure nation. But he failed in his estimate of the loyalty of his supporters. They began to abuse their power, and made enemies, until civil war resulted one year after Rivadavia had taken office.

Rivadavia fled to Europe and here bided his time. Seven years later, he tried to return. But chaos continued. He returned to Spain, and there he died, in 1845.

Argentina has issued several stamps for Rivadavia. One is shown here.

Planning Communities May Be Named July 1

CITY COUNCIL READY TO ACT ON NEW BODY

LAGUNA BEACH, June 25.—Completion of the personnel of the city's recently established planning commission is expected when the city council holds its next meeting on July 1, according to an announcement by city officials today.

Three prominent Laguna residents have signified their willingness to serve on the planning body. The names of the three men have been submitted to the council by the Laguna chamber of commerce, with the recommendation that they be appointed.

One of those who has accepted an offer to serve on the commission is the nationally famous artist, Frank J. Cuprien. The other two, who are well known business men here, are Edward J. Eberle and Charles Hunter. At the present time, the commission includes City Engineer Arthur J. Stead, Councilman Randolph H. Bainbridge and Fire Chief P. J. Bushman. When completed the planning body will consist of nine members.

RALPH VIELE WEDS MRS. CALLA SMITH

COSTA MESA, June 25.—Ralph Vile, well known local business man, and Mrs. Calla Smith, of Strathmore, were married in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilfrid Rowntree Wednesday. The groom's father, J. H. Vile; Mrs. Anna Smith, Miss Lela Smith, Lester Smith and Mrs. Rowntree were witnesses. The Rev. Mr. Rowntree read the wedding rites.

The Rowntree home was decorated with varied garden flowers and roses for the occasion. The bride couple stood beneath an arch of flowers placed at the entrance of the living room. The bride was attired in white. Mr. and Mrs. Vile departed immediately after the wedding to the mountain home of a friend. Following their vacation trip they will be at home to their friends at 2109 Harbor boulevard, Costa Mesa.

Shower Is Held For Bride-Elect

LA HABRA, June 25.—Mrs. Craig Knox, Whittier, entertained with a luncheon and pottery shower for Miss June Moody, of La Habra, bride-elect of Richard Knox, also of Whittier.

A three-course 1 o'clock luncheon was served. Monopoly was played by the guests during the afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Ivan Knox, Mrs. Eugene Knox, Mrs. La Verne Knox, Miss Pearl Knox, Mrs. Dawson, and Mrs. Parsons, of Whittier; Mrs. Arthur Price, of Sunset Beach, and Mrs. Norman Moody and June, of La Habra.

Beach Party Held For Club Members

TUSTIN, June 25.—Mu Lambda club members motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Farnsworth at Huntington Beach for their regular monthly dinner meeting this week. The hosts had arranged small tables in the spacious yard for the affair.

Those present were Mrs. R. E. Carswell, Mrs. Calvin Duncan and her house guest, Miss Lillian Crawford, of Marysville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ebel, Miss Marjorie Rawlins, Miss Marian Carson, Miss Helen Ferguson, Miss Audrey Pieper and Miss Gertrude Pollard.

Picnic Arranged For Sugar Plant Workers at H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—Warren J. Bristol, former Holly Sugar company official here, has planned a picnic to be held on the Bristol home and service station lawn here as a feature of the Fourth of July three-day program. The picnic will be held the evening of July 5.

It is planned as a get-together affair for former sugar workers and for those who now work in sugar plants of the state. It is hoped to make an annual event of the picnic.

DANCE RECITAL IS GIVEN BY STUDENTS

LA HABRA, June 25.—Miss Adeline Stemple, of La Habra, presented her dance pupils in recital at the Anaheim amphitheater Tuesday evening. Miss June Walde and Duane Vadal were vocalists and Evelyn McFadden accompanied at the piano during the evening.

Those taking part were Wathagene Upton, Betty Jo Upton, Mary Lou Steele, Dolores Lindauer, Joan Berry, Lois Roberts, Ruth Hooper, Patty Pulliam, Loly Maria Killian, Julia Mar Roper, Ruth Herron, Janet Whitmore, Doris Schaffer, Betty Lou Cooksey, Joan Needham, Frances Plou, Patsy Miller, June Weaver, Wanda Lee Burdick, Betty Lee Stanley, Del Smith, Wally Pelton, Lela Smith, Joyce Lyndell, Evelyn Sutton, Kitty Kuhn and Mary Lou Baldwin.

E. L. CORD CRUISER IN NEWPORT HARBOR

NEWPORT HARBOR, June 25.—The palatial motor cruiser, "Virginian," belonging to E. L. Cord, of Los Angeles, with Mr. and Mrs. Cord and a party of friends on board, cast anchor in Newport harbor early Wednesday following a cruise in the vicinity of Catalina Island. The ship made its first appearance in the local harbor Monday, since which several short cruises have been made in nearby waters.

After mooring here yesterday, the party on board motored to Los Angeles for the day. The vessel has a permanent berth at San Pedro.

MRS. NELSON NAMED TO LIBRARY BOARD

BUENA PARK, June 25.—Mrs. Richard Nelson received 24 votes in the library board election yesterday, with Carl Brenner receiving 8, and Percy Owens 1. Brenner is the retiring member of the board. Remaining are Mrs. Henry Warren and Mrs. J. F. Wagg. The library served as a polling place with Mrs. Ed Mann, Mrs. E. A. Kinney and Mrs. Minnie Stephens as members of the board.

Methodist Church To Omit Service

WINTERSBURG, June 25.—Morning services will be held as usual at the Wintersburg Methodist church, but the evening services will be dismissed. The congregation may attend the annual church conference which convenes in Long Beach. At the morning service at 10:30 o'clock the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Thompson, will speak on the subject "Hope of the Ages."

The local Epworth league will meet Sunday evening with all leagues of the conference in Long Beach at 8 o'clock for a union service.

MANY EVENTS ARRANGED FOR H. B. PROGRAM

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—Finishing touches and final arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration to be staged here are in progress. The annual parade which has always proved one of the high spots in the celebration will be led this year by the queen of the carnival. Immediately following her car will be Leo Carrillo, famous Hollywood character actor, and M. M. McCallen, grand marshal of the parade.

Those who attend the celebration each year look forward to the baby show and parade, which will be staged this year under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Colvin and her committee. Already there are hundreds of entries from all parts of the county. The baby show will be held at 1 p. m. July 4.

Some of the events in connection with the baby show will be the awarding of prizes for the prettiest girl, handsomest boy, funniest clown, prettiest costume, most original entry, fattest boy, fattest girl, most freckled baby, twins most alike, best decorated vehicle with child and best impersonation.

Sunday, July 5, will be amateur day and events slated on the program will be held at the beach grand stand at 2 p. m. The amateur tests will be a special series of prizes, and the winner will be sent to Sacramento for a motion picture contract as the final award. John T. Africa, as chairman of the amateur contest committee, will "sound the gong" whenever necessary. Entries are asked to register with the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce in advance if possible, although entries will be recognized as late as 2 p. m. July 5.

The "Eskimo roll" is to be demonstrated for a prize at the kayak races here July 4, with R. A. Marsden in charge. The trick has never been shown here. The boy takes his boat out beyond the breakers. There the boat is whirled completely over by the rider. There must be no water allowed to get into the boat during the complete overturn and dive.

TEACHERS SIGNED BY SCHOOL BOARD

GARDEN GROVE, June 25.—At a meeting of the Garden Grove grammar school board held Tuesday, all teachers were re-employed and the budget made out. An increase of $100 a year in all salaries was voted. The smallest salary paid last year was $1250 and the largest $1350 with the exception of special teachers, superintendent and principals. There are 37 teachers in the district including principals, superintendent and nurse.

According to S. R. Fitz the budget will be submitted to the county superintendent of schools before July 1. The budget hearing will be held about August 1. Last year there was an increase in attendance of 30 pupils, Fitz said.

Laguna Players Stage Program

LAGUNA BEACH, June 25.—The fourth in a series of Monte Carlo nights was given by Community Players of Laguna Beach at their clubhouse, 319 Ocean avenue, Wednesday night. A large attendance was registered and the various attractions were well patronized.

Charles Gilmour acted as master of ceremonies, keeping things moving along in customary style. The proceeds will be devoted to amortization of the remaining debt on the clubhouse building. Business arrangements were handled by Lyle Rankin, aided by a committee.

Concerts To Be Given In Beach City

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—The 40-piece symphony orchestra of the Federal Music project will give a free symphony concert at Memorial hall Friday night.

Leon Eckles, director of the Federal Music project, is sending the symphony orchestra here and the chamber of commerce is sponsoring the concert. The program will start at 8 p. m.

The National Youth Administration Boys' band, with T. Dunstan Collins directing, will give a free band concert on the beach here Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The public is invited.

BEACH MINISTER SPEAKS ON CHURCH

GARDEN GROVE, June 25.—The Rev. Harvey Preston, secretary of the Long Beach Baptist City missionary society, spoke on the subject, "The Most Valuable Institution in the World, The Church," at the meeting of the United Church brotherhood held in the Baptist church Tuesday evening.

The speaker gave four reasons and spoke regarding each, as follows: "Supernatural Origin," "Its Redemption," "Its Protection Down Through Centuries" and fourth, "The Promise of Its Continuance."

The Rev. Mr. Preston was introduced by Vernon King. Allen Goddard presided at the business session, when plans were made to hold a picnic at a nearby park in July, the place and date to be decided later. An invitation will be extended to members of the business session, when plans were made to hold a picnic at a nearby park in July, the place and date to be decided later.

Violin numbers, were played by the Rev. William J. Keech, pastor of the Baptist church. Community singing was led by Harvey Emley. Preceding the meeting dinner was served by women of the church.

OWNERS RESERVE H. B. OIL RIGHTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—The Shell Oil company well at the corner of Bushard road and Atlantic street, a mile east of the city limits of Huntington Beach, is located on land owned by James Irvine, but Irvine will not profit if the well is a success as he purchased the land for water land and the oil rights were not included in the sale.

The oil rights are also reserved on the Laguna Beach city water lands near the new well and on several other tracts sold as water lands. Oil rights on the lands are owned by Aldrich Land company, Union Oil company, Standard Oil company and others, the official county records disclose.

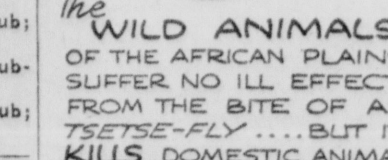

Ordinarily, with the sale of land goes complete ownership from the center of the earth to the sky above, but it is legal to reserve mineral rights, oil rights with or without right of entry, and in this area above the Shell well, there are oil right reservations on various tracts. Another notable reservation of oil rights is the city owned beach at Huntington Beach. Standard Oil company reserved the oil rights on the city beach without right of entry.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

IN SOME STATES, NIGHTHAWKS ARE CALLED "GOATSUCKERS," FROM AN OLD BELIEF THAT THEY ACTUALLY MILKED GOATS!

THE WILD ANIMALS OF THE AFRICAN PLAINS SUFFER NO ILL EFFECTS FROM THE BITE OF A TSETSE-FLY... BUT IT KILLS DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

TSETSE-FLIES, although little larger than a common house-fly, are the curse of Equatorial Africa. One bite by the fly brings inevitable death to horses, cattle and dogs; but the wild animals of the region are harmed no more by its bite than by the sting of a small gnat. The bite itself is not poisonous, but it conveys a parasite which causes the trouble.

MARIE CLINE AND WHITTIER MAN MARRIED

PLACENTIA, June 25.—On the 25th anniversary of her arrival in Placentia as a tiny baby, Miss Marie Cline was married Wednesday night to James H. Kennedy, of Whittier. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cline, of Placentia, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. L. C. Holdsworth, of Fullerton.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Father Earley of St. Mary's Catholic church at 8 o'clock before an improvised altar made up of flowers, ferns and candelabra before the fireplace of the family home. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Norma Brastad, of Anaheim, maid of honor, and by Chester Hamilton, a cousin of the bridegroom, and a business associate. Mrs. Kenneth Cline, sister-in-law of the bride, played "Until" and "O Promise Me" prior to the wedding march by Mendelssohn.

The bride wore a simple silk net dress, with short puff sleeves and instead of the conventional cap and veil, she wore a lot of gardenias and a gardenia in her hair. Miss Brastad was dressed in pink starched lace and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

Assisted by Mrs. T. L. McFadden and Mrs. Eva Howard, Mrs. Cline served a buffet supper in the patio following the ceremony. The bride, changing to a brown gabardine suit, left after the ceremony for a trip to Lake Tahoe. On their return they will reside in Whittier, where she is connected with an automobile agency.

Wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cline sr., San Pedro; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cline jr., of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirkendall, Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hamilton, and John Quigley, of Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. John Forster, of San Juan Capistrano; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McInley, of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. George Forster, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Holdsworth, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. John Harlow, Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Quigley, Pico; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McLelland, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ellwanger, Robert Ellwanger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moll, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Stabinough, Los Angeles; Mrs. Matilda Enfield, Mrs. Charlotte Newman, Leo Enfield, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Matilda Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cline and Mrs. Eva Howard, Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Delbridge, Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. A. Nelson, of San Dimas, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Larson, of Long Beach.

AT Camilla's exclamation of Rosita's name, Phil looked puzzled, and Bob gave a long, low whistle.

"Rosita, of course!" he said. "It all fits in. But why in the world should Rosita come for Marcia?"

"That would be interesting to find out," Camilla said. "Let's get a taxicab and go to Zen's."

"They did. Rosita was not there. 'Her night off,' someone explained.

"Where does she live?" Bob asked.

"That, monsieur, nobody knows," the man answered, with a careless shrug which indicated that one did not reveal addresses. Bob's hand went into his pocket. The man hesitated, then gave an address on the Left Bank.

"Wrong address, I'll bet," Phil murmured. "But come on."

They did. The cab drew up in front of an old, low house, and a tottering old lady with frizzled gray curls opened the door.

"Rosita!" she repeated. "Oh, yes, Rosita! She lives here, but she is not here tonight. She is away for the day and night."

MEMORIAL PARK HEARING TO BE HELD JULY 7

LAGUNA BEACH, June 25.—Divided into opposition camps on the subject of the proposed memorial park, projected for the Temple Hills tract, outside Laguna Beach city limits, representatives of various interests will appear at the meeting of the supervisors scheduled for July 7, at which time application for a monument permit, and protests against granting of the permit, will be heard.

Under the county planning rules and in accordance with a county ordinance, all residents within a one-mile radius of the proposed memorial park must be notified of intention to establish a "cemetery." E. H. Sanders, of Santa Monica, and his associates, projectors of the memorial park, assert that beautification of the 40-acre tract, now barren and brown, will follow the granting of the permit applied for.

Objections by members of the realty board and by business men are offset by endorsement of the project, signed by other realtors and business firms. No concerted action has been taken either in opposition to or in favor of the establishment of the memorial park, pending the hearing in Santa Ana, at which numerous people from Laguna Beach will be present.

STANDARD GROUP PLANS H. B. PICNIC

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—The annual picnic of Standard Oil company employees will be held here August 14. It has been announced to the chamber of commerce. Plans are being made to entertain 8000 people here for the picnic. A feature of the program will be a party at John Barlow's plunge and there will be athletic contests and a picnic dinner with the company providing the coffee and ice cream and other features.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ON her wedding day MARCIA CUNNINGHAM hears her name, BOB HASKELL, telling one of the bridesmaids, SYLVIA, that he loves her but can't afford to marry her.

Marcia, hurt and bewildered, sails alone on the trip that was to have been a honeymoon. On the ship she meets PHILIP KIRKBY, engineer, telling one of the bridesmaids, SYLVIA, that he loves her but can't afford to marry her.

In Paris Marcia meets Camilla. Bob arrives and the four go about together frequently. The clerk tells them she went away with a young lady. He describes her and Camilla says it must be Rosita, a café dancer.

CHAPTER VII

AT Camilla's exclamation of Rosita's name, Phil looked puzzled, and Bob gave a long, low whistle.

Old Time Party Is Held By W.R.C.

GARDEN GROVE, June 25.—An old time costume party was enjoyed by members of the W. R. C. when they met for their social evening of the month in Legion hall Tuesday. Prizes for the most comical costumes went to Mrs. Ladue and Mrs. Mary Pritchett.

Games were played, followed by refreshments served by Miss Eleanor Hayes, Mrs. Bertha Collins and Mrs. Charlotte Monell.

Announcement was made of a sewing bee to be held July 2 at the home of Mrs. Mignon Waters. A pot luck dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Visitors included Mrs. Gladys McDonald, Mrs. Deck and Mrs. Ladue of Orange, and Mrs. Ladue and Mrs. Epps, of Midway City.

LEAGUE MEETING SET FOR TONIGHT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 25.—The League of Municipalities of Orange county will meet tonight at the Golden Bear cafe, beginning with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock. Mayor Willis Warner and other city officials and appointive officers will be hosts to the visitors. Subject for discussion will be the legality of tango and other chip games. John L. Bland, of Los Angeles, will be the speaker.

Installation Of Rebekahs July 14

WESTMINSTER, June 25.—Semi-annual installation of officers of the Aloha Rebekah lodge of Westminster will be held the evening of July 14, with Mrs. Nora Edwards, district deputy president, and her staff in charge of the ceremonies. Mrs. Nellie Morgan and Mrs. Maude Miel are in charge of the refreshment tables and the decorations for the evening. This will be a closed installation. Initiation was held Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Lucie Moon, of Huntington Beach, becoming a member. Visitors from Torosa and Sycamore lodges of Santa Ana and from the Orange lodge and Long Beach lodge were present.

THE JAIL

"The jail. It seems that there was a fight and bail was needed and—I came for you when I heard."

A little hesitantly, Marcia turned and followed Rosita. The French girl summoned a cab and they started through the twilight.

"Robert is so careless," the French girl said.

Marcia did not answer.

"And such a warm heart," she continued. "He loves you, I think. Yes, I think he loves you very much. But he loves others. He would forget."

"Why should he forget?" Marcia asked them.

Rosita shrugged her black-clad shoulders. "Oh—if something should happen to make him very displeased with you. You love him, I think."

To this assertion Marcia turned a quiet, disinterested face.

"This is it," Rosita paid the driver and started to a gray door. "This? The jail?" But perhaps it was. Marcia remembered that she never had seen the French jails.

They entered a long room. Dim music came from somewhere and there were small tables with shaded lights. The ceilings were high and the rooms smelled musty.

"The jail?" Marcia asked, fearful suddenly.

"Oh, but we are not going to the jail. We are going to wait here for Robert. Come!"

"No, thank you."

"I think it would be wise. Still, if you are afraid—" She turned to the doorman. "Andre, the lady is leaving." The man bowed and opened the door.

TAX PLAN HIT IN RESOLUTION OF COMMITTEE

NEWPORT-BALBOA, June 25.—A resolution opposing the Single Tax plan has been formulated by the taxation committee of the Orange County Coast association, according to T. B. Talbert, of Huntington Beach, chairman of the group, and it will be submitted to the various civic organizations along the coast line for approval and support.

Associated with Talbert on the committee are Lew H. Wallace, of Newport Beach; Leslie P. Kimmell, Laguna Beach; Dan Mulholland, of San Clemente, and Roy Peacock, of Laguna Beach.

Plans for the July meeting of the Orange County Coast association, which is to be held at Huntington Beach, call for further discussion of all of the constitutional amendments which are to be on the California state ballot this fall.

Church School To Close On Friday

GARDEN GROVE, June 25.—Closing exercises for the Vacation church school will be held Friday morning from 10 to 11 o'clock in the Baptist church. A program will be presented and land work by the pupils exhibited. The school has been conducted for the past two weeks with an enrollment of 75 students and 11 teachers and helpers.

Arrange Meeting Of Tustin Grange

TUSTIN, June 25.—The regular meeting of the Tustin grange will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in the Tustin Presbyterian church social hall, Mrs. R. A. Schottz, publicity chairman, announced today. The subject of "Taxes" will be discussed and every member is urged to attend.

HE PLACED A SECOND PHOTOGRAPH

on the table. The two people were the same. You could tell the girl by her clothes, and her hair and her profile. The man was imploring a kiss on her mouth.

"You—you . . ." She would have torn the pictures in two, but remembered, in time, that Pierre had the negatives.

"The likeness is splendid, don't you think?" Rosita murmured.

"What do you want?" Marcia asked.

"Fifty thousand francs," they answered together.

"And if I won't—"

"Every newspaper in America—in your New York—will have these pictures. Every one will know that you and Pierre were—sweethearts."

"You—" Her words choked in her throat.

"Well?" A soft, sliding word. Marcia stood up and walked out into the street.

From behind her came a low voice. "You have until tomorrow night at 7, Mademoiselle. And then—"

Marcia did not go home. She went alone to a little restaurant to drink more tea and coffee. It was preposterous. That snickering giggle had made himself obnoxious and was seeking a reward. She would have him arrested. At once.

She went to police headquarters and eventually found an officer who would listen to her.

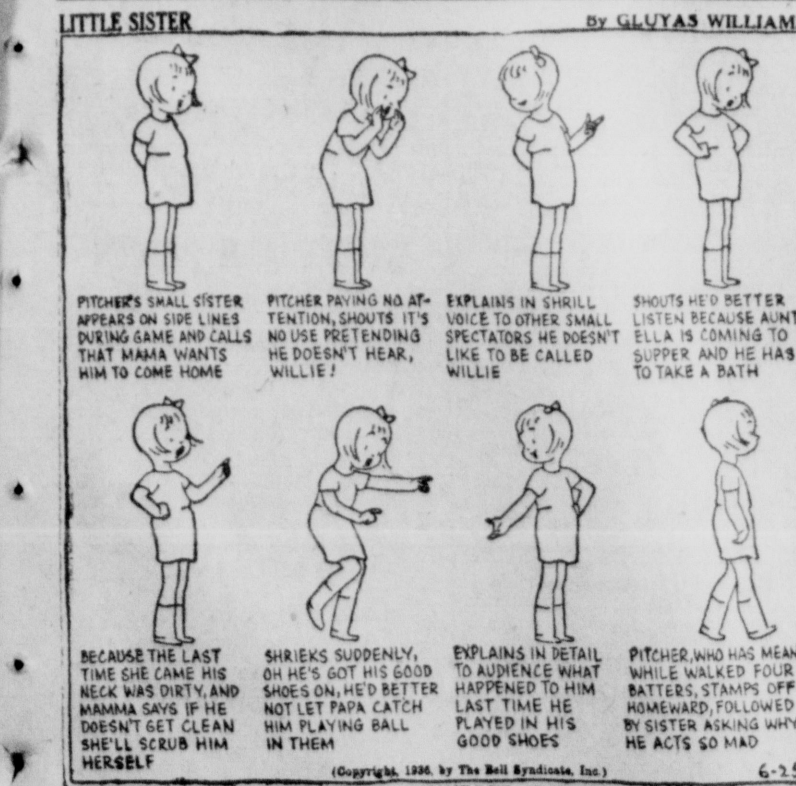

"But you are in the picture, you and this man?" he asked.

"And he kissed you?" "Yes, he did, but—"

"Then he has the evidence. How do I know that you aren't lying?" Marcia got up and hurried from the room. She had to consult somebody. Anybody. Bob wouldn't had got her into this. Got her into it merely by being the irresponsible person he was. But Phil—

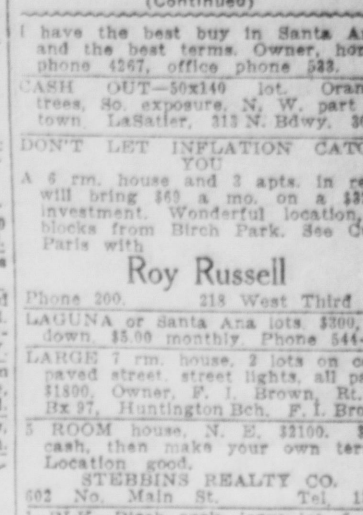

She would go to him. "Hurry, driver," she pleaded. "I'll triple the fare!"

Today's Guest Editorial

By

Thomas L. McFadden, Anaheim Attorney

The "Guest Editor" selects his own subject matter and it may or may not agree with the opinions of the publisher. The Register will invite and publish daily a "guest editorial" by some prominent, practical Orange county citizen.

GIVE US UNBIASED FACTS

At no time within the memory of the older generation have the minds of our citizens been in greater state of confusion and uncertainty than at the present time, more particularly insofar as our thinking has to deal with things political, economic and social.

Well-informed men and women hold contrary opinions on many questions that should be capable of definite solution, or at least concerning which there should be greater harmony of thought. Such is the case with many of our problems that divide our citizenry into antagonistic groups.

Why, may we ask, should there be such a wide diversity of opinion? Is it because people have selfish motives to satisfy; is it because we have inherited or have acquired biases and prejudices that warp our thinking, or is it because we have not at our disposal the facts that should be the basis of the solution of these problems?

The scientific man does not hesitate to discard theories that have no basis in fact; he does not hamper his investigation by loyalty to any school of thought or by political alliances. His premise must be right or his answer will be wrong. Would not an impartial fact-finding body in our political, economic and social spheres materially assist us in making a scientific approach to the ever increasing number of perplexing problems that daily confront us.

The tariff, taxes, money, old-age pensions, local option, crime, war and a hundred other problems are prolific sources of a diversity of opinions that in a measure could be harmonized were our minds not befogged with misinformation or lack of reliable information.

Engineers and architects in our political world who would adopt the methodical methods of our engineers and our architects in our scientific world, would be helpful in eliminating much of the chaotic thinking that is not only wasteful of time, but costly in operation. A noted philosopher has said that nothing is so sure and certain as ignorance. The more ignorant we are, the more positive we seem to be about those things concerning which we are hardly entitled to entertain an opinion. In every public square we find many who can settle every problem of state and nation with a finality that would stagger an inspired mind. We are all prone to express definite opinions concerning matters that involve the very existence of our nation without that information which should be necessary before expressing any definite opinion.

Faith in the American people to solve our problems is not lacking provided they have the working tools that are necessary for solution. It does seem that too many of our leaders are more interested in withholding or distorting the basic facts for party or for selfish purposes, and not enough of them imbued with that degree of patriotism that would prompt them to enlighten the public and thus enable us with reason to think our problems through to their logical solution.

In any event the result could not be as exact as the solution of a mathematical problem, but it would approach a nearer condition of harmony than haphazard thinking based on misinformation or no information.

With a false premise we can prove every triangle an isosceles triangle. With a false premise we arrive at just as an erroneous conclusion in the solution of any other problem.

Give the people more accurate information from unbiased sources, then they will have the opportunity to do their own thinking and not be compelled to rely on the thinking of others.

"HOW TO CURE UNEMPLOYMENT"

The Register, as its readers well know, has contended that the one problem facing the citizens is how to cure unemployment. For this reason we are quoting from what Major Angas has to say under the heading "How to Cure Unemployment," in his book, "Investment for Appreciation." As to the reputation of Major Angas, Fortune magazine says, "Major Angas, by being consistently right for a period of ten years, has become something of a legend."

For this reason, what the Major says should be of interest to every voter; especially is this true, since Congress just passed the tax law taxing surpluses of corporations.

We quote from Major Angas, as follows: "1. Democratic governments are usually afraid of pursuing the policies necessary to capitalism. The voting masses suffer."

"Much of the depression which occurs in modern industry could be prevented if democratic governments, who express themselves profoundly concerned with the problem of bad trade and unemployment, would realize that, although they are democratically elected and depend for their votes on a public, which, for the most part, are not capitalists except in a very small way, their industrial systems are nevertheless still highly capitalistic."

"Although they declare themselves anxious to improve trade and employment, most governments are so busy keeping an eye on the votes of the masses that they either cannot or will not see that what would really improve the condition of the masses most under capitalism is a highly capitalistic policy calculated in the short run to lose votes."

"Any government wishing to stimulate trade and employment in the capitalist system must appreciate that business men will not employ workmen unless they expect profits; and that, therefore, the first essential for curing widespread unemployment is to create the belief among business men, not only that high profits will be made, but also that the business men will be allowed to retain them."

The Register believes that business men should be required to do more than retain profits. It has been our contention that these profits should be reinvested and if selfishly consumed on personal expenditures, they should be taxed but should not be taxed so long as they are increasing the capital which is increasing the jobs and raising the wages of all workers. It would seem that the way to get the public to permit business men to retain capital would be to have a tax that taxed them when they did not use their capital as stewards should use their wealth.

Major Angas continues his discussion as follows:

"To the unemployed workman I may, of course, appear that a policy of enriching the capitalist, prior to enriching the unemployed, is immoral and unsound; and many politicians, in their desire to please the electorate, hesitate to advocate any policy which is deliberately aimed at augmenting profits."

"But the fact is that we still live under a capitalist system, and so long as this Profit System endures, governments must take the world as it is and always pursue a policy promising high profits to capitalist employers. Nor, in the long run, does this apparently unfair policy of favoring the capitalist matter either to consumers or wage-earners."

"In the long run, capitalism, by its process of competitive investment, will always tend to reduce profits in any industry to a minimum; for if any one industry becomes abnormally prosperous and makes high profits, new capital, unless monopoly exists, will be attracted into it; and as soon as the gestation period of new plant is over, additional goods will come on the market. This augmentation of supply in a competitive market will soon reduce both profits and prices in that industry, so that the consumer will benefit in the wake of the capitalist."

"Similarly as regards wages: other things being equal, employers are anxious to keep wages at a minimum in their own businesses. But if an industry, and industry in general, is making high profits, production will expand and more men will be wanted. Competition for men will grow, and trade unions will be able to obtain higher wages for their workers. Capitalists, however, must be making high profits before the wage-earners have a chance of higher wages. To amplify profits is, under capitalism, the latch-key to high wages and full employment."

"2. Profit margins must be protected. Therefore if wages and profits at any time are low, and unemployment is rife, the first duty of a government, under the capitalist system, is to create a profit reflation: An enlargement of profits is the first goal at which to aim."

"Socialists may object, on political principle, to profits as such, and possibly to the social injustice of such a plan; but they must agree, on economic principles, that so long as capitalism endures, this is the most effective policy for governments to adopt, even though they may lose some votes on the part of those who think that all profits should be reduced to a minimum by government intervention."

END OF "SANCTIONS"

Fifty-one nations, which last October resorted to the unprecedented weapon of sanctions in an effort to halt Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, now are ready to lift the anti-Italian economic siege.

The league states are said to be convinced that continuance of the sanctions is dangerous in that Italy may bolt the league. And they're free to admit that the sanctions proved futile in the first place.

Thus the world witnesses the end of what was intended to be a noble experiment. Sanctions failed because Italy had sufficient steam to proceed on her own power and win the Ethiopian war.

That is one reason. But there's another. They failed because of the hesitant stop-and-go methods under which they were administered. In a sense it can be said sanctions did not get a fair trial. Nor will they until the nations of the world place peace ahead of selfish interests.

STILL GOING STRONG

It appears now that the American public has weathered the depression pretty well, after all. At least, says Dr. James S. McLester, president of the American Medical Association, a nationwide survey shows that no widespread under-nutrition likely to affect the general health has developed from the hard times.

On the contrary, he tells us, the American people seem to have learned a very good lesson from the whole affair. Economic misfortune became the mother of a more enlightened and practical viewpoint on diet and survival.

"Here we have, on one hand," says Dr. McLester, "the fact that we have suffered great material losses during the last five years, while, on the other, there is no clear evidence that the nutritive state of any appreciable number of people is inferior to that of pre-depression days. Cumulative enlightenment is responsible for this."

Other blessings may be taken away, but if we have acquired a good friend by goodness, we have a blessing which improves in value when others fail. It is even heightened by sufferings.

—William Ellery Channing.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25. — When it comes to speech-making, adroit phrasing and hard-hitting attack, there is nothing really to compare with the Democrats. They have been a minority party so long that they have not forgotten even in these days of their ascendancy the masterful art of offense.

The keynote address of Senator Barkley of Kentucky was a well-written, well-delivered and cleverly defensive speech, perhaps the best that could be made from the New Deal viewpoint. It repeated the aggressive philosophy of federalism and centralized control which the New Deal intends to make an issue this year.

The Kentucky senator was quick to pierce the inconsistencies of the Republican platform at Cleveland, particularly its inept handling of the reciprocal trade agreements, which, despite their Republican origin, are now denounced by the expected defense of the relief problem.

But Mr. Barkley made one gross error. It is unexplainable because his colleagues in congress made the same mistake and attention was called in the newspapers of the country from coast to coast at the time to the mistake, or rather the trick involved in juggling figures. Yet the misstatement was repeated in a speech as important as the keynote address at a national convention. It happened this way:

The Kentucky senator spoke of the increase in public debt during the Hoover administration as being about four billion dollars. Then he pointed out that the increase in public debt during the Roosevelt administration was about ten and a half billion dollars. He then said:

"When we deduct from the net increase in the public debt the more than $5,000,000,000 which will be repaid by those who have borrowed from the government because of the willingness or inability of other lending agencies, we find that the net increase in the public debt is but little more than that of the previous administration, which had little to show for its extravagance."

Now what are the facts as they can be ascertained from the public records?

During the Hoover administration the net increase in debt was about $3,000,000,000, but, out of this sum, loans and other recoverable or repayable assets amounted to $2,225,000,000, so that, if there is any deducting done, it should be as of March 4, 1933, in order that the comparison with the succeeding administration may be accurate.

In other words, the Hoover net debt increase would then be about $1,775,000,000 and the Roosevelt debt increase would be $7,725,000,000, or more than four times the Hoover net debt increase.

Four times a certain sum is hardly describable as "but little more," yet Senator Barkley can hardly be blamed for assuming his figures were correct, as they were no doubt furnished to him by the publicity experts as a substitute for the "three long years" theme song of the Republican convention. The Kentucky senator emphasized that the "twelve long years" of the Republican administration would be compared in the campaign with the "three long years" of Democratic rule.

The Republican chieftains will probably welcome the comparison. For, taking the twelve long years as a measuring unit, the Republicans reduced the public debt by having a total surplus over expenses of around $5,000,000,000. Also, if the Republicans are permitted to use twelve long years as a basis of comparison, it will be found that wages and incomes reached the highest level in American history and so did gainful employment.

Mr. Farley forgot that the DuPonts financed the Democratic party between 1928 and 1932 and some of them gave substantially to the Roosevelt campaign. Also it will be noted that John Raskob, who is now prominent in the Liberty league, was Mr. Farley's predecessor as chairman of the Democratic national committee and Alfred E. Smith probably will testify that he was beaten for the presidency in 1928 by religious intolerance and it was not financed by his supporters, the DuPonts, either.

But the delegates applauded Mr. Farley and gave him as fine an ovation as a national chairman ever got. Speaking of the delegates, they are a good-looking, in fact prosperous-looking, crowd. The poll made by a prominent Democratic newspaper, showing that 64 per cent of the delegates here are federal office holders, would seem to be borne out by the luxury that surrounds the convention itself.

No one would ever suspect that this is a "convention of the people," as William Jennings Bryan used to speak of it with the pride of a great commoner. The observer has to rub his eyes to be sure this isn't one of those fashionable conventions for which only the Republicans were famous in yesterdays.

After supper pop started to sneeze to himself in his hankerchief, saying, Confound a cold anyway. Other people seem to get along very well without them, why am I always picked out to give them hospitality? he said.

Now Willyum don't carry on, ma said. This is the first cold you've had in a long while and I'm sure it's not nearly as bad as you think it is, because none of your colds can ever possibly be, she said, and pop said, No doubt it's properly quite enjoyable. You don't seem to be minding it much, anyway, he said.

If you looked at it in a sensible philosophical lye you'd feel grateful and thankful that you've only got a minor cold instead of one of the gassy epidemics that you'd probably be having this minute if you were living back in the times before medical science with its grate strides and giant advances practically cleared them off the face of the earth, ma said, and pop said, They didn't seem to do much about colds.

The trouble is we don't appreciate our blessings ma said. Professor Pribbee Hayden gave a very interesting talk on that subject at the last current events afternoon of the Dawters of Cleopatra. It seems in those days plagues and epidemics were daily common occurrence and people just meekly suffered and passed their germs across the land like a prairie fire across an unprotected desert, and on every hand there was leprosy and malaria and typhoid fever and sudden death, and here you are in this enlightened age with a little cold and just listen to you, ma said.

I defy anybody to feel any worse than I do, and that challenge is retroactive all a way back to the Middle Ages 500 years before the founding of the Rockefeller Institute, pop said.

And he sneezed some more and looked worse instead of better, and ma said, O, a man with a cold is hopeless. Which he properly is.

Modern Life

THE WHY OF RECOVERY

We ARE in a process of recovery.

As a Republican, I am quite as elated over this fact as if I were an ardent Rooseveltian Democrat.

But I am interested to keep clear just why we are in this process of recovery.

Since partisan considerations rest very lightly on my mind, I think I can be fair in saying why we are on the up grade.

We are on the up grade for the following reasons:

(1) The depression had run its cycle by the summer of 1932.

(2) Mr. Roosevelt performed a miracle of spirit in stirring a dejected and frightened people to new courage by his dynamic inaugural and the sense of action he contrived to give in the first weeks of his administration.

(3) The United States is uniquely rich in resources, the resources of nature and of human nature.

(4) The swarming majority of Americans, whose spirits have not been corroded by satisfaction with subsidy, are hard-working folk.

(5) The American system of government is conducive to the release and stimulation of the genius of the people living under it.

(6) The Supreme Court, even if it has left a swarm of valid question marks trailing its decisions, has forced into the discard policies that would tend to twist the American system of government into the superficially attractive but fundamentally suicidal avenues of excessively centralized power which has always ended in tyranny by the state.

These are the elements in the "why" of the measure of recovery we have attained.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE BEST GIFT

Knowing that one has a gifted child, seeing that gift develop and watching the child win applause and fortune must be a great delight to the parents. No wonder they beam with pride and joy. Still, it seems to me, that the father and mother who have a healthy, happy, normal child ought to feel equally proud and equally glad, if not more so.

Rearing a genius, or even a highly gifted child, is a difficult task. Seldom we find a well-balanced body and mind when the gift is outstanding. Something has been robbed from Peter to pay Paul, and Paul never takes that placidly. The highly gifted child usually has a weak spot somewhere waiting an opportunity to make trouble.

Sometimes nerves are edgy and temper brittle. Sometimes personal characteristics are exaggerated to the place where they make the gifted one very unhappy and render association with him most unpleasant. I knew one who used to walk the floor, biting his fingers until they bled. Another insisted upon eating, one dish, the same thing, every meal. Still another must live in a room of the same temperature the year round, and when he went out there was a great deal of fuss and bother. One gifted individual who traveled a lot had to carry his bed along, and most of his personal belongings as well, until he required a freight car to make a trip of two hours by train.

Of course it is great to possess a gift of first magnitude, fine to say, "That is my gifted child." But it is just as fine, and far easier, to know that this normal happy, healthy youngster who can eat and sleep and play with the rest of the crowd, who can grow up and take his place among the useful and happy citizens of the community belongs to your family.

People do not half appreciate the ordinary child, the normal youngster who plays hard, gets dirty, tears his clothes, quarrels with his brothers and sisters, and forgets it in a minute, behaves like an angel and quite the other way on occasion, gets by in school, and generally behaves like a normal human child. He is the salt of the earth. On his shoulders this world rests. On his sturdy legs it moves forward.

Upon his sanity it is finally balanced. The genius may shine, the great lead the way, but the ordinary healthy normal man and woman carry them to the goal. And have a good time doing it.

The ordinary, good child is happy. He may shed a few tears now and then over his hard lot. He may want to hold the moon in his hands and raise a howl when he fails to reach it, but he will not brood over it. He will remember to bring in the milk in the morning and take the dog for an airing just as usual. His day will not be spoiled because he lost an illusion.

Parents ought to give their healthy normal youngsters a smile of approval now and then for being just that. Let them see how glad you are that they can run and jump and shout and shove their way through the playground. Smile kindly upon them when they ask for seconds on steak and onions. Give the report that says, B. B. B. your cordial approval and a lolly-pop for good measure. Be plain thankful that you have a perfectly normal child. Let who will, or who must, have the gifted and the genius. You won't shine, perhaps in the reflected light of the star, but you will know a peace and a content unknown to stars.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

Bad habits aren't cured by direct attack. First you must cure the habit of the surrender.

Among those who owe their high rating to publicity are American mothers.

Hints to young wives: If you don't have any babies, you won't get any pretty flowers on Mother's Day.

The drier the weather, the more ladies get drunk, the more men will get disgusted and vote for Prohibition.

Sacred principle: A belief or standard that Americans hold dear until the Press pokes fun at it.

WHY SHOULDN'T THE FARMER MAKE LESS THAN OTHERS? WITH ALL THE EXERCISE HE GETS, LOOK WHAT HE SAVES ON GOLF.

You can say one thing for the crook. His moral standards aren't a result of trying to keep in style.

The gravity of any situation may be judged by the degree of imbecility that sane people will listen to.

Youth movements aren't new. The new part is that oldersters no longer say: "Aw, shut up."

AMERICANISM: Cussing wicked monopolies; soaking the oil company when you have the only corner lot suitable for a filling station.

More fun for the gods: Americans criticizing Arabians for resenting the airs of alien new-comers.

But if America can't keep out of Europe's affairs, how come Japan isn't dragged in, too?

Nearly all men are honorable. The trouble is that each defines honor to fit what he wishes to do.

IN THIS FREE LAND YOU NEED NO TITLE TO BE TREATED LIKE A KING. JUST LOOK LIKE A GENEROUS TIPPER.

Maybe you live longer when you have all your teeth pulled, and maybe it just seems longer.

Many novels have dirty words and pornographic ideas in spots, but you can say that about the dictionary.

Men aren't discerning. No man is made happy by a new hat that looks just like his old one.

There's a lot of difference between the man who wills and the man who wishes. One can't be stopped and the other can't be started.
